SHOWDOWN ON NAVY TONNAGE IS DUE TODAY

Premiers Andre Tardieu and MacDonald Fully Primed for Combat

AMERICA STANDS BY

First Serious Discussion of Actual Figures Will Be Held

BULLETIN

LONDON, Feb. 13—A detailed statistical memorandum setting forth France's naval requirements, was handed to 100 press representatives by Premier Andre Tardieu at St. James palace this evening.

The memorandum insisted that France's total naval tonnage by 1936 aggregate 724,479 tons, including 10 cruisers of the Washington treaty type and 99,629 tons of submarines.

LONDON, Feb. 13—With America standing by in the role of potential mediator, France and England met this afternoon for the long awaited showdown on tonnage demands.

Fully primed for combat, Premier Andre Tardieu of France is to present to Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald of Britain, France's tentative global tonnage demand, standing at the moment, at the grand total of 724,000 tons.

The meeting is to take place in Premier MacDonald's chambers in the house of commons. Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, chief of the American delegation, will be on hand as an "interested observer", prepared to step in between the two naval powers that face one another across the English channel should arbitration be found necessary.

What May Happen

Premier MacDonald, it is understood, will make immediate attempts to whittle down this French total, which France hopes to achieve by 1936. Stimson will watch the course of the negotiations closely, for they have an important bearing on ultimate Anglo-American parity.

Should France persist in her 724,000 tons demand, it is considered likely Britain will demand a greater tonnage than was set forth in Premier MacDonald's program last week, in the natural course of events. this would have the effect of automatically increasing America's total also.

M. Tardieu called upon Secretary Stimson at the latter's hotel this morning and acquainted the chief American delegate with the salient points in the French naval memorandum which is to be made public today. The figures which Tardieu revealed to Stimson will form the basis of the three-cornered discussion in the house of commons.

Japanese on Sidelines

America is interested in the French naval strength only indirectly as it affects the British total. The Japanese are temporarily on the sidelines, awaiting crystallization of the Anglo-American agreement, which admittedly depends in large part upon the French demands.

Official circles were unanimous in regarding this afternoon's conference between the British, French and American delegation leaders as the "most serious discussion" of actual tonnage figures.

Hitherto, the conference, both in private and public sittings, has dealt almost solely with generalities. Now the three powers are to confront one

Hoover Seeks To Regain Reputation as Fisherman

President Starts on Fishing Trip Early in Morning; Takes on Deep Coat of Tan, Showing Benefits of Brief Holiday

LONG KEY, Fla., Feb. 13—Presidential guests having run away with all the major fishing honors thus far, President Hoover set out early this morning to redeem his own reputation as a fisherman.

He went back today to the same spot, about six miles off here, where Mrs. Stone, wife of the associate justice of the supreme court, landed a 66-pound sailfish after a two-hour battle. This fish is the record for the presidential party, and comes within five pounds of equalling the season's record for the Long Key Fishing club.

The executive is showing the beneficial effects of his brief holiday already. The hot sun has tanned him a deep brown, and he seems to be enjoying himself thoroughly.

Last night just before retiring, he transacted some minor business which had been sent down from Washington in the mail pouch. For the most part it consisted of signing some nominations of minor members of the diplomatic service.

BANK TAX BURDEN IS GIVEN STOCKHOLDERS

Commission Plans To Get National Financial Taxes in New Way

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Feb. 13—National banks of Belmont county, which obtained injunctions against collections of approximately $200,000 taxes on their capital stock on the ground that the state has no jurisdiction over federal institutions, have succeeded in shifting the tax burden to their stockholders. This was revealed today when Homer G. Finley, Belmont county auditor, received orders from the Ohio tax commission to assess the taxes against individual shareholders.

The national banks of Belmont County, as well as those of many other Ohio districts, obtained temporary restraining orders against collections last fall, thereby avoiding payment of taxes over a period of several years. The cases are now in the courts.

The ruling today indicates that the Ohio tax commission does not propose to force other taxpayers to assume the deficit created by the action of the banks. This is based on the theory that if the stock is that of a foreign corporation, the stockholders must pay the taxes individually.

SEEK TO SEND HUGHES' NAME TO COMMITTEE

Coalition Would Have Nomination Go Back to Judiciary Group

GLASS ASSAILS COURT

Virginia Senator Says Tribunal Has Strayed from Original Functions

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13—A suggestion to return the nomination of Charles Evans Hughes as chief justice of the United States to the senate judiciary committee for "further investigation into his qualifications" was made in the senate today by Senator Nye, Republican of North Dakota, as the Democratic-Insurgent coalition opened its fourth day of debate against the appointee.

Nye protested the debate had aroused so many doubts about Hughes' economic and social qualifications for the supreme court that further inquiry should be held. He admitted though administration leaders controlled sufficient votes to block this maneuver and to secure confirmation of Hughes.

Reads Editorial

Senator Glass, Democrat of Virginia, opened the fourth day's debate with a brief criticism of the supreme court's present policies and a short attack on Hughes. Glass first read a newspaper editorial declaring "legal competence is only one and perhaps not the most important qualification for the supreme court." Glass said this view was shared by many senators that the supreme court "in recent years had gone far afield from its original functions and constituted itself a court of economic and social questions instead of a court of legal questions."

The administration majority in the senate, frankly worried, planned to force a vote today on confirmation of Hughes as chief justice in the belief that further delay will endanger his tentative seat on the supreme court.

The opposition to Hughes, growing from thin air, has swept through the senate like a prairie fire, until private polls indicated 31 senators would vote against his confirmation. Administration leaders however admitted only 20 votes in opposition, the foes of Hughes would need only 14 more converts to defeat his confirmation—something that has never happened to a nominee for chief justice in the history of the country.

On Public Attitude

If the opposition plan to recommit Hughes' nomination to the senate judiciary committee for further investigation succeeds, Hughes will be invited before the committee to explain his legal activities for various corporations. One suggestion has been made privately that he be asked to disclose the total amount of his retainers, said to have averaged $500,000 a year, and their sources since he resigned as secretary of state. He would also be asked to reveal the identity of his corporation clients at the present time.

The fight against Hughes was based solely on his public attitude toward economic questions involving property rights and the interests of corporations. Just as conservative politicians would oppose the appointment of a radical insurgent like Brookhart, to the supreme court, so a Democratic-Insurgent coalition is opposing Hughes, on the ground that he is a "reactionary." His opponents have at all times conceded the nominee's legal ability, personal integrity and moral qualifications.

CLEVELAND JOBLESS PLAN BIG SESSION

Preparations for Event Feb. 26 Made at Mass Meeting in Public Square

CLEVELAND, Feb. 13—Incited by fiery appeals to "answer police brutality," Cleveland's army of the unemployed was making preparations today for a demonstration Feb. 26 in "mighty protest against police terrorism."

The preparations follow a mass meeting of 300 of the city's jobless in Public Square here last evening which was called by leaders in the Communist organization in protest to police action in the now-famous "riot of the unemployed" on the steps of City hall Tuesday.

Incendiary oratory of the Communist leaders fanned the flame of resentment in the mob of 300 unemployed as two policemen stood by, hearing the unkind remarks shot at them. Tom Johnson, young Communist organizer who was recently convicted of criminal syndicalism in St. Clairsville, exhorted the mob to "give a decisive answer to police action."

Two rioters who were charged with assault and battery on Lieut. Oliver Torrence in the wild melee on City Hall's steps Tuesday were scheduled for arraignment in municipal court here today.

One of the rioters, Sol Jagoda, 21, said to be of Youngstown, still is in City hospital today in a serious condition with a broken vertebrae received in Tuesday's riot.

DRY TEST CASE IS DISCHARGED

Magistrate Decides Government Could Not Obtain Conviction in Court

MAN IS SILENT

Refuses To Divulge Who Sold Him Gin; Blocks Court Action

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13—The case against a citizen here, charged with buying a half-pint of gin, which the local authorities planned to prosecute as a test to see if the purchaser of liquor can be convicted under the provision of the dry law, fell by the wayside today.

The police court magistrate decided the government would be unable to secure a conviction against the defendant. He explained it was necessary to have the bootlegger testify he sold the gin before a case could be made. Then, too, he said, the seller would plead ignorance or refuse to testify because he would incriminate himself on the selling charge.

Just before announcement the case would be dismissed, the treasury department declared if a conviction were given the government would undertake to prosecute all purchasers of liquor. Heretofore they have been unmolested unless they had bought liquors to resell.

Joseph Patrick Carley, 40, was the man singled out for the test case. Detectives claimed they saw him leave a speakeasy with a half-pint of gin. He refused to tell where he bought it and they could not learn the identity of the seller.

U. S. AMBASSADOR IS CRITICALLY ILL

Alexander P. Moore Suffering from Tuberculosis of Throat

MONROVIA, Cal., Feb. 13—Alexander P. Moore, recently appointed first United States ambassador to Poland and former Pittsburgh publisher, was critically ill in a sanitarium here today suffering from tuberculosis of the throat.

Moore, who also serve with distinction as ambassador to Spain and Peru, has been in Southern California since last August seeking to regain his health.

X-ray examinations disclosed that the lung infection of apparently long standing, had spread to the throat, and his condition was not at all favorable.

While he spent what was regarded by his nurse as a "very good night," he has failed to show any improvement in recent days.

Ohio Girl Unhappy; Bullet Wound Fatal

CINCINNATI, Feb. 13— Evelyn Worley, 15-year-old daughter of Thomas Worley, is dead here today because she was unhappy.

The girl ended her life by firing a bullet into her chest late yesterday. She died in General hospital a few hours later.

A slip of paper was found in the room where the girl shot herself. On one side of the paper was written, "You do not have to get rid of me. I will send myself to daddy. I hate to leave my sweetheart, Luther Carpenter, because he has been so good to me. Love to all." Relatives could not explain the sentence, "I will send myself to Dadd—"

Remove Warren Hunger Striker to Hospital

WARREN, Feb. 13—Under the watchful eyes of physicians who marvel at the man's iron-like constitution, Richard Stewart, Warren rug merchant, continued his "hunger strike" into its twenty-ninth day today.

As a matter of precaution, Stewart, who began his fast in the county jail here while serving out a $200 fine and costs for molesting a woman, was removed to the city hospital last night. The man is undergoing his starvation program as a form of "punishment" to Judge C. B. Perry for his incarceration.

WOMAN ASKS REFERENDUM ON DRY LAW

Mrs. Mary Norton Hurls Challenge to Prohibitionists of Nation

TALKS TO COMMITTEE

Sees Vote of People as Solution to Liquor Problem of U. S.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13—Declaring prohibition has substituted the "co-educational speakeasy" for the saloon, women leaders in the fight on the eighteenth amendment, appealed to the house judiciary committee today to restore control of liquor traffic to the states.

Spokesmen for women's anti-prohibition organizations claiming more than 100,000 members, pronounced conditions worse than before prohibition and backed the proposal of Mrs. Mary T. Norton, Democratic congresswoman from New Jersey, for a national referendum.

* * *

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13—A woman's challenge to the drys of the nation to approve a national referendum on prohibition was hailed before the house judiciary committee today by Mrs. Mary T. Norton, Democratic congresswoman from New Jersey.

She told the committee, which is conducting hearings on bills to repeal or amend the Eighteenth amendment that prohibition question will never be settled until it is determined by the people themselves.

MRS. NORTON

Although her novel message of submitting the constitution amendment to a vote has been called illegal by some lawyers, she defended it as a practical and just measure.

Taking command of the first stages of today's hearing, Mrs. Norton presented to support her plea Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, wife of a prominent and widely-known New York banker; Miss M. Louis Gross, of New York, chairman of the Women's Moderation union and Mrs. David Holmes Morton, of New York, of the Association for Repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

30 Women in Fight

With Mrs. Sabin, who resigned from the Republican National committee as a result of differences over prohibition, are 30 women from a half dozen states, all asserting prohibition has proved a failure.

Mrs. Norton declared her novel method of a referendum offers a practical solution of the present situation.

She proposed to submit an amendment for repeal of the Eighteenth amendment subject to a referendum vote by the states. If the amendment is repealed, the states would be left in control of the liquor traffic under the resolution.

COUPLE SLAIN BY NEW YORK GUNMEN

Four Killers Fire Revolvers as They Step from Automobile; Robbery Not Motive

NEW YORK, Feb. 13—Caroline Borell, 27, said by police to have a long record, and a woman companion, were slain by gunmen today as they walked on a main thoroughfare in the Bronx.

The woman, attractively dressed, was identified as May Smith, 24, a dancer, by Miss Betty Lee, also a dancer, whose name and address was found in the dead girl's purse.

Miss Lee said the slain girl came here from Wilkes Barre, Pa., and had been acting as an entertainer in night clubs and dance halls.

While a confederate waited nearby in an automobile, the four killers working in pairs, stepped from the car with revolvers drawn. Four shots took effect.

Robbery was eliminated as a motive of the killing when detectives found the gunmen made no effort to remove valuable rings worn by the couple.

Crying Girl Better

Sobs Become Milder and Less Frequent; Cheerful Attitude of Mind Aids Her

ATTLEBORO, Mass., Feb. 13—Milder and less frequent today came the sobs of Miss Violet Michael, the 18-year-old New Bedford girl, stricken with diaphragmatic spasms at 6:30 p. m. Sunday.

Her physician, Dr. Earl R. White, said that sleep, at first produced by narcotics but now natural by the simple application of cheerful thoughts in the sickroom and nourishing food and plenty of it, will effect a cure by Friday.

Miss Michael, however, was in a pitiful condition as the result of her long crying and sobbing experience. The tear sacs of her eyes were drained, the eyes were swollen and watery, she was strapped as she lay in bed because the continual sobbing had strained the muscles of her sides and her head ached.

* * *

As her crying stopped and her sobs became intermittent, she has displayed a cheerful attitude. "I'm sure I'll get well soon, Doctor," she said. This attitude of mind is aiding her greatly, Dr. White declared.

"We have to be very careful what we say in the sick room," said Dr. White. "The least suggestion brings on sobbing. For instance, I suggested removal to a hospital. I won't do it again for the sobbing started right away and threatened to become violent."

TECHNICIAN NAMED FOR CITY HOSPITAL

Miss Louise Norden To Have Charge of New Pathological Room

Selection of Miss Louise Norden, of Sioux City, Ia., as technician in charge of the pathological room now being made a part of City hospital, was announced today by T. E. Somannatine, director of public safety. Miss Norden is expected to arrive in Marion Friday, and assume her duties as technician Saturday.

The pathological room of the hospital will not be placed in operation for possibly two weeks, it was announced today. None of the equipment, which will be furnished by the Women's Hospital board, will be purchased until Miss Norden is here to advise.

Miss Norden was selected from a number of applicants from several cities. She has had considerable nursing and technical experience and is a trained laboratorian and X-ray operator.

When in operation, the pathological room will furnish charts of the physical condition of patients. These informative charts are valuable to physicians and hospital officials, and furnish information showing the condition of all parts of the physical system.

NO SHAKEUP OF DRY FORCES IS PLANNED

Doran Satisfied with Operations of Department in Chicago

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13—There will be no shakeup of consequence at Chicago as a result of the wholesale indictment of alcohol permittees, Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran made this clear on his return to Washington today, after a first-hand investigation of conditions at Chicago and Milwaukee.

"Administrator E. C. Yellowley will remain as head of the Chicago district," Doran declared. "His work is entirely satisfactory."

Doran said that George Hurlburt, deputy administrator at Chicago, had requested that he be transferred to the west coast and that this probably would be done.

Frank Cunningham, deputy at Milwaukee, in the Chicago district, also desires a change of post and may be named chief assistant to Yellowley.

MOVE MADE TO CUT DEFICIT AT CITY HOSPITAL

Mayor Requests Townships To Guarantee Payment for Charity Cases

SPEAKS AT MEETING

Suggests Cooperation To Have Hospital Give Countywide Service

One of a series of steps to place Marion City hospital on a paying, or at least self-supporting basis, was taken this morning when Mayor L. Don Jones and T. E. Somannatine, director of public safety, appeared before the annual meeting of township trustees seeking assurance that expenses of all charity cases from townships would be met, and requesting cooperation of the trustees in making the hospital a countywide institution.

Although the annual meeting of the township trustees was primarily intended to develop a road program for the year and discuss the general road situation of the county, the address on the hospital situation by Mayor Jones developed as an important side-issue of the morning session of the meeting.

State Men on Program

A full program of speakers was arranged for the morning session of the meeting. Appearing on the program with Mayor Jones were J. R. Thomas, Uhrichsville, president of the Ohio Township Trustees and Clerks' association, who talked on cooperation; William Corbett, of the state bureau of public accounting, who discussed township trustee bookkeeping; County Auditor Earl E. Thomas, who explained the annual budget of the trustees, and Walter Williams, president of the county association of township trustees. Cecil Lawrence, county surveyor, presided at the meeting.

With reports showing the hospital running a deficit of $13.81 for each patient handled during 1929, and an average deficit of $5,002.40 for the last 10 years of that institution's existence, Mayor Jones, in an address before the trustees, explained that charity cases from the townships must be refused at the hospital if no guarantee is given for payment of their expenses.

Favors County Service

"We feel that the one equitable solution to the whole problem is for the county outside of the city to become a partner in this institution, but inasmuch as this is not the case, we must deal with it as a city institution," Mayor Jones declared.

"In the first place, the City hospital is not a charitable institution, neither is it an institution for service to the citizens of this community alone. We feel that it should be a county unit rather than just a city unit, giving a larger area of service and ultimately reducing the rates of the institution. This would tend to give the family of moderate means the much needed hospitalization that so many families should doubtless have."

Jones explained that additional patients from the county could be handled with little or no increase in overhead expense to the hospital, and that the increased volume of business might enable officials to clear up the annual deficit and lead to reduce the rates.

Explains Deficit

Mayor Jones explained that the city had approximately $275,000 invested in the hospital. The daily cost of caring for each patient is $5.63, whereas the revenue from each patient per day averages $4.28, Mayor Jones said. This leaves a deficit of $1.35 per patient each day.

Township trustees may, within a short time be asked to sign a contract of assurance with the city to guarantee payment of the expenses of public charges in the hospital. A copy of this contract was read at the meeting by Mayor Jones.

TWO POLICEMEN OWE LIVES TO DEAD SHOT

Cleveland Patrolman Kills Man Just as Latter Aims at Officers

CLEVELAND, Feb. 13—Two policemen today owed their lives to Patrolman John Zigarelli, one of the "dead shots" of the police department.

Zigarelli shot and killed Elliot Aaron Glover, 21, when the latter aimed his pistol at Sergt. Anthony Cerba and Patrolman Thomas Perry who were searching a suspect's house, in which they had been drawn by a shot fired as they were cruising the neighborhood.

Cerba and Perry had preceded Zigarelli into the house. Zigarelli entered just in time to see Glover aim his gun at the two officers. The patrolman fired before Glover could pull the trigger. The gunman dropped dead.

Police officials who investigated the shooting declared it justifiable.

Play Sponsored by Club Women

"Disraeli" To Be Shown Here Under Auspices of County Federation

Among the most enterprising projects of the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs for the year will be the sponsoring of the picture, "Disraeli," next Wednesday and Thursday at the Marion theater.

Five hundred club women are working to make this a success. Every follower of the theater will appreciate "Disraeli," not only from the standpoint of real theatrical art, but also for the vivid slant it gives to England and her history. George Arliss, veteran English actor, carries the honors of the title name of the picture.

There is a powerful story running through the picture, and a charming love theme is interwoven with the hard tactics of statesmanship. In the picture is shown a reception to Queen Victoria of England.

Out of respect to the memory of the "Empress of India," a close up of Margaret Mann, who plays this role, is not shown.

Misfortune is good for the soul if the soul is any good.

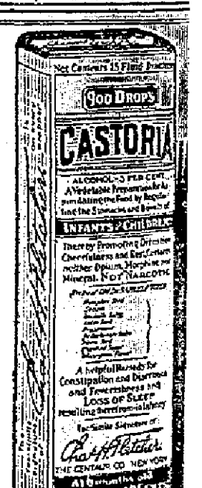
Mother's Friend lessens pain

If Baby has COLIC



A cry in the night may be the first warning that Baby has colic. No cause for alarm if Castoria is handy! This pure vegetable preparation brings quick comfort, and can never do the slightest harm. Always keep a bottle in the house. It is the safe and sensible thing when children are ailing. Whether it's the stomach, or the little bowels: colic or constipation; or diarrhea. When tiny tongues are coated, or the breath is bad. Whenever there's need of gentle regulation. Children love the taste of Castoria, and its mildness makes it suitable for the tiniest infant, and for frequent use.

And a more liberal dose of Castoria is always better for growing children than some needlessly strong medicine meant only for adult use. Genuine Castoria always has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Prescribed by doctors!

Only a doctor knows what a laxative should be

YOU don't want to use a laxative every day. Nor once a week. This should not be necessary. And it never would be required if all of us would learn the danger that lies in a careless selection of laxatives.

By taking the first thing that comes to mind when bad breath, headaches, dizziness, nausea, biliousness, gas on stomach and bowels, poor appetite, or lack of energy warns us that our bowels are sluggish, we risk forming the laxative habit.

Rely on a doctor's judgment in choosing your laxative. Here's one made from the prescription of a specialist in bowel and stomach trouble. Its originator tried it in many thousands of cases. He found it safe for women, children and old folks; thoroughly effective for the most robust man. There were so many calls for this prescription and its fame spread so rapidly that druggists began to fill it in quantities; kept it ready for calls. Now Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is prepared from the freshest herbs and other pure ingredients under ideal conditions. You can get the generous bottles of it from drug stores in any part of the world.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a real corrective of constipation. Millions have proved this. That's why it is today the world's most popular laxative!

"No," John Andrew protested mildly.

"And never a thought to your father's hope that some day you might make a man of yourself."——

John Andrew, squirming in his chair, said uneasily, "I've never done anything very terrible, sir.——"

"Terrible? If you only had, John Andrew, I'd hopes for you! No, 'tis the little things. It's the sailin' along until—until—we come to your marryin'. I have no doubt at all, some night club girl or chorus lady. Tell me, John Andrew, are ye married already?"

"No. But——"

"Are...but! They make certain of it; there'll be no way out for you. Ye're hooked, my man, and ye'll never wriggle off unless the steel's cut with gold shears. Has she got a name?"

Kellogg stared out of the window, not caring even to take advantage of the surprise and relief which would be Craig's.

"Barbara Thornton," he said.

"Eh?" Craig sat up straighter. "Old Elaine Thornton's girl? Hm. Well, well. It is...yes, it's better than I hoped. A deal better. Hm. A deal better. Hm. A sensible lass." Craig actually smiled. "John Andrew, your days of foolishness are over."

"That's what I'm afraid of," John Andrew said grimly.

"You would be," the lawyer snapped. "Barbara's a girl with sense. Pretty, too. But it's the first thing which may be your salvation; ye'll need such a woman now, let me tell you! And no fooling about it, either. Now...ye've lost your job?"

Even an ad in the lost and found columns won't recover it."

"Have you no shame, John Andrew? A big man like you, with the best of education and the finest of families, fired! Discharged by some fellow you could buy and sell a hundred times, and never miss the money. Hm. No shame at all. Kicked out of a building which you yourself own."

"Do I?" John Andrew asked.

He wondered, for a brief moment, what Saunders, who had discharged him so thoroughly and with so much detail, all probably true, but very unpleasant, would say if John Andrew were to go back to the man's office and tell him that the rent would be raised, or that since he was an undesirable tenant the lease would be terminated as soon as the term was completed.

"Ye do. Now, take Saunders there; he's a hard working man, and some day he'll get——"

"A good punch in the nose," John Andrew said.

"If you had given it to him on the spot. I'd have more use for you," Craig told him sharply. "However, that's finished with, and there's no necessity of your going back and arguing with him, John Andrew; at least not until the agent persuades him that if he wants clouded glass windows in the offices he must pay for it himself."

"He's a good Scot," John Andrew said. "Thinks the help waste time by looking out at the river."

"Let's waste no more time," Craig suggested firmly. "Three positions you've held, and three you've lost. Tell me, John Andrew, what would you do if your living depended upon it?"

John Andrew almost said, "If that were the case, I suppose I'd work mighty hard to keep my job and get a better one"; instead, he only said, "What's that got to do with it?" It sounded arrogant. Kellogg had not intended it so.

"Ye're a fool," old lawyer said. "Well, a fool's a fool, and so ye're to be treated." He reached into his desk, and drew out a blue backed legal document. "If my son is steadily employed until reaching the age of twenty-five——"

"I know all that," Kellogg said. "What comes next?"

His head, he discovered, was at last beginning to ache, and he was growing vaguely angry.

"Ah, ye'll learn too fast for your taste." The lawyer leaned back in his chair, and it squeaked; the sound annoyed John Andrew keenly. "Here is what comes next. If you lose three positions—and you have, one after the other—you are to be given the sum of $5,000, cash, plus transportation to whenever you wish to go."

"Rot," Kellogg said. "I don't believe it."

"Naturally your father would not be cuttin' you off to drift; Andrew was not the man for over-etera measures where you were concerned. ...listen. The sum of $5,000, which you are to double in any way you can. The money must be employed to do it. You can go where you will, and cash to buy the transportation will be furnished you."

"If you double the money—Andrew Kellogg himself would have quadrupled it inside of a week—the estate is yours. It was Andrew's idea that you might be the sort of a lad who had flashes of business sense, instead of being merely a plugger and keeping a position, and so he took this way of finding out. But if ye can neither work steadily, nor make money, well——"

"Then, and I regret giving it to you to your face, John Andrew, a remittance man ye become. A nincompoop. Every month throughout your life you get more thousands than you can decently spend, but the principal stays in a trust fund. Ye're branded, my boy. A never-do-well. A fool." Craig laid the document down. "It's an ironclad will. I drew it myself. Ye can't break it. But I suppose you're happy, eh? No need to work at all. Plenty of cash to play with. Smile, John Andrew. Grin, man, ye're always grinnin'."

John Andrew said suddenly, "You're no happier over it than I am."

"Bah," Craig bristled. "'Tis all in the way of business for me, since I am to handle the trust as long as I live."

"You're a big bluff," John Andrew said. As if to prove that he still could, he grinned feebly. "I'm taking them right on the button today," he said. "Counting the jaw I was in early this morning, this's three I've taken on the jaw."

"There's not a chance in the world of your doublin' the money," the old lawyer said, blinking. "Not a chance. I'm delighted. I was figurin' what the estate'll bring me in fees the next 10 years. A staggerin' amount. I'll invest it securely; I'm never the man to take a chance with cash. John Andrew, there's something breakin' in the stock market in a day or two; I'll give you the name of my broker. Not even buyin' on margin, which is against every law of common sense and business, ye can come close to doublin' the $5,000."

"I knew you felt that way about it," John Andrew said gently. "But it's no go. I know I'm licked, but . . . thanks, anyhow."

"Bah!" Craig puffed out. "Nothin' to thank me for. Ye'd probably lose it." He paused for almost a minute, avoiding John Andrews eyes, and then said. "Tell Barbara of it. She's canny; she'll give you good advice. And it isn't hopeless. Andrew would have turned it into $50,000 before the morning."

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

THURSDAY. I wish it would get cold or warm, one. It isn't cold enough so a feila can go skatin', nor warm enough so a feila can go swimming. All he can do is milk his cows and go to school and come home and milk the cows and go to bed.

When I had let Jubilee down and had done all my work and went in and left the bunch waiting for me in the barn while I fed my face and got ready for school and we had all set down at the table my ant came out of her room and my mother saw her and made a noise like she had seen a ghost, and we all looked and my ant's face was a sight. It was red as a beet. It was swole up so big that the skin looked shiny, and when my mother asked her what was the matter with it she said she'picked a pimple yesterday and now she didn't know what was wrong. My father said she had better see a doctor, and she said she would if she could see one without him seeing her. She said she would put a flaxseed poultice on it and it would be all right. She said it didn't pain her any. I was so sorry for her I couldn't help grinning every time I looked at her, and I couldn't help looking at her.

Before school we all skun out as fast as we could go and went to look at more valentines in the stores. I found a good one without any nekked angels on it for two dollars but the man said he would let me have it for a dollar and six bits, and I was just going to get it when who should come in the store but Younise and Feeble and Margie, so I couldnt buy Younise a valentine whilst she was around. She looks like a valentine herself. If someone would paist her on a card and send her to me I would think it was the best one I had ever got. I went back into the store and snuck around behind a rack that had a lot of books piled up to the ceiling and there was a yellow headed young lady there and I gave her the money and asted her to go up and get the valentine and put it away for me, and she went and got it and brung it back and asted me my name and kissed me and told me I was a dear. I wish women would mind their own business. I lost the bunch and went and got it and took it to the barn and hid it after school.

My ant's beak is worse and bigger. The doctor says she has got a stepiococcus inspection and it is very serious. She would make a good comic valentine for someone. Well my money is all gone and tomorrow my valentine will be gone. Washington's birthday comes on Saturday. That is why my mable told me we would have two holidays. The dirty crook.

What angers a man of explosive nature is not so much the character of the gossip about him, but that his affairs should be discussed at all.

Love's Reawakening

The Story of a Wife's Triumph Over Jealousy

BY ADELE GARRISON

With the Beautiful Painting, Robert Savarin Sent a Letter to Lillian

I THINK Lillian must have solved the troublol questions concerning her which were rushing in my brain, called forth by her mention of "Poor Robert." At any rate she turned suddenly from her contemplation of the exquisite painting of Marion which the famous artist had sent her, and spoke with decision.

"I know what you're thinking," she said, "and I can assure you there isn't the slightest ground for your uneasiness. I did love Robert very sincerely, but I think the springs of that emotion lay in that first romantic affection for him when I was a very young girl and he was so kind to me. And until Harry came back this last time, I did not love him, although I had been his wife for many years and for some of them had been his very good comrade."

"But—" she paused impressively, "make no mistake about what I am going to tell you, although I hope it will never be necessary to speak about it again—I'm not given to shouting my feelings from the housetops, you know—I love my husband above everything else in the world except Marion. He is my man—my mate—and I would sacrifice anything in the world for him except something that would hurt Marion. But do you think I could in any way give this up even if he does not like to have me keep it?"

I wanted to shout a negative at her, but I steeled my heart.

"How could I possibly decide a question like that for you?" I asked. "But—haven't you overlooked something here?"

I stepped to the discarded wrappings of the picture and picked up an envelope which we had overlooked in our astonishment at the painting of Marion.

She held out her hand for it, but not before I had seen the words "For Lillian" in Robert Savarin's unmistakable script.

"May I?" she said, and I rose abruptly.

"I'll just go away for a little," I said, but her hand shot out and she caught my dress.

"Sit down!" she commanded. "I probably shall want you to read this," she said, and I reached past her and took the painting of Marion into my hands.

"Divine Understanding"

"I want to set this up and look at it from the proper distance," I said, as I moved away, and for the next few minutes I busied myself with looking at the picture from different angles, becoming so absorbed that I did not hear Lillian when she called me.

"Please, Madge," she said chokingly, "I fancy you didn't hear me before."

"Oh! I'm sorry," I said, "but this would make anybody forget anything. I never saw anything so exquisite in my life. He has put his whole heart into this."

"That is what he says," she replied faltering, and I saw that her eyes were bright with tears. She put up her hand and dashed them away with a savage little gesture, and then held out Robert Savarin's letter to me. I shrank back instinctively.

"I mustn't — surely you don't—" I began.

"But Robert himself has asked that you read it," she said. "He speaks of your 'divine understanding,' and I echo his words. And—I am afraid it does not matter much to Robert now whether his letters are shared or not."

"What do you mean?" I asked, startled, for there seemed something significant in her tone.

"Read the letter," she said soberly, "and you will see what I mean."

I picked up the letter and unfolded it with reluctance, for despite her permission I felt a desecration to read what I felt must be the outpourings of a broken heart.

"My love," the letter began without any other heading, for surely even your husband cannot object to my names you this for the last time I shall ever write you. For it is in these words that I always carry you in my heart and they will be my last conscious thought of you. For they have told me—those dear friends of mine—that it will not be very long now before I shall find out the answer to the Eternal Question of what lies beyond the Dark River."

Even through the stilted phrases of an earlier generation I caught the poignant anguish which the letter sounded. It was almost as if the spirit of the man had disengaged itself into his pen as to make the written words spiritual, aching with pain.

"It is only since I have known that the end would soon be latest," the letter went on, "that I have been able to purge my soul of resentment against the fate which deprived me of you, and of bitter jealousy of your husband with whom I have been told, you are now happy. They say the approach of Death makes one see clearly. I only can speak for myself. I have been realizing lately that although I have loved you so greatly, yet I never could have made you happy, and that it is better, far better, as it is."

REFERENDUM ASKED ON U. S. DRY LAW

of the United States and the future welfare of this country whether wet or dry, should desire the Eighteenth amendment to remain in the constitution against the will of the majority of the people of the United States," she said.

"It seems to me that neither wets nor drys should object to empowering the people of the United States themselves to determine whether or not the Eighteenth amendment should remain in the constitution."

Fresh charges of graft and corruption in the wake of prohibition are being collected by wet leaders for presentation to the committee during its hearings, it was learned today.

Testimony Sensational

Having produced sensational testimony to the committee in the first day's hearing, which amazed wet and dry members alike, commanders of the wet forces evidenced a desperation to attempt to prove that prohibition is primarily responsible for crime conditions.

Shocked by the statements of Walter Liggett, magazine writer, drys are preparing to abandon their decision to ignore the hearings and refute many of his statements concerning crime in Boston, Detroit, Washington, Minnesota and Kansas.

The Rev. E. C. Dinwiddie, secretary of the national conference of organizations supporting the Eighteenth amendment, is marshaling the dry forces. The drys have been promised half the time to be consumed by the hearings.

The opposition of the dry majority of the committee to extend hearings was expected to give way to a compromise as a result of a meeting of the committee in closed session.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough or chest cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make a full pint. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.

You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It is also absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. At the same time, it promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in severe bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

3 GANG LEADERS ARRESTED IN DRIVE

Gun-Toting Charged and Trio Is Held to Grand Jury

CHICAGO, Feb. 13—Three gang leaders of notoriety in Chicago's underworld today faced grand jury action for gun-toting after the latest police drive on hoodlums last night netted seven gangsters of repute.

Continuing their wholesale drive on underworld characters which has resulted in the seizure of more than 2,000 questionable characters and the indictment of more than a score on charges of gun carrying, police last night cornered the seven gang leaders in a West Side restaurant.

The three who are to be tried on gun-carrying charges are Bernard O'Donnell; "Three Finger Jack" White, convicted murderer and labor terrorist; and George "Red" Barker, alleged gunman and dictator and terrorist for the coal teamsters' union. Over 400 others were seized yesterday.

The four others upon whom police hope to fasten charges are Myles O'Donnell, her wedding czar; Mike Quirk, charged several times for murder; Edward Streck and John O'Connor.

Myles O'Donnel fainted at police headquarters when a photographer discharged a flashlight behind him. When revived he explained he thought he had been shot.

LINCOLN HAILED AS PRACTICAL IDEALIST

Governor Cooper Speaks Before 500 Persons at Cleveland Meeting

CLEVELAND, Feb. 13—Abraham Lincoln was described as a practical and progressive idealist in an address here last night by Gov. Myers Y. Cooper, speaking before 500 members of the Cuyahoga county council of the Sons and Daughters of Union Veterans.

"Lincoln was a progressive, yet in no sense could he be regarded as a mere visionary," Governor Cooper said. "For always, were his actions predicated upon clear thinking and sound reasoning.

"Lincoln foresaw the growth and development of our country. He advocated the building of railroads westward and if he were here today he would be as keenly interested in lake and river transportation developments, the extending of highway transportation benefits as well as great transcontinental railroad improvements that are being made, as is our own great president Herbert Hoover."

Stressing the need for more law and order, Governor Cooper declared that in "Lincolnizing America, we not only build stability in government through a deepening of loyalty, but we become interpreters of true progress."

Attendance at today's luncheon reached 60.

May Alter U. S. Submarine Policy

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13—Failure of Secretary of State Stimson to obtain an agreement at the London naval conference to outlaw the submarine as a weapon which "revolted the conscience of the world" during the last war, foreshadowed a further alteration of the existing American submarine policy, Acting Secretary of State Cotton indicated today.

Stimson's resolution adopted by the conference for a study by experts of the question of limitation of the submarine craft, involves the question also of whether the submarine should be reduced in size as well as in total tonnage, Cotton said.

The American policy at the Washington conference of 1921, was that of opposition to abolition. The British delegation at Geneva in 1927, that submarines of more than 600 tons be limited, met with instant [illegible] by Ambassador Hugh S. [illegible] and Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones, the American delegates to the limited conference.

Indicates Policy Change

Stimson's action of Tuesday, observers declare, is in direct line with the apparent change of view as to cruisers.

His outline of the American program a week ago today indicated a change of policy as to 10,000-ton 8-inch gun cruisers versus smaller craft. Stimson suggested that in accepting a total of eighteen 10,000-ton cruisers against 15 for the British, the difference of three cruisers below the 21 put forward originally by the United States, might be made up of a number of smaller six-inch gun cruisers.

Experts here consider this a departure from the navy's all big cruiser policy as it existed before the MacDonald-Hawes negotiations which preceded the London conference.

Criticism Heard

Some criticism is being heard that the American delegation is modifying the American naval policy, both on submarines and cruisers to conform to the British views regarding these two categories, small six-inch cruisers and submarines limited to 600 tons or under.

Cotton refrained from commenting on this feature of recent developments, but said Stimson's dispatches to the state department indicated a new policy might be evolved out of the submarine discussions in committee.

THREE APPEAL CASES DECIDED BY SCOFIELD

Municipal Judge Is Upheld in Two Rulings, Reversed in One

In decisions handed down yesterday in cases appealed to the common pleas court from the municipal court, Judge George B. Scofield upheld Judge William R. Martin's decisions in two cases and reversed his ruling in one case.

Judge Scofield sustained the lower court in the decision given in favor of the McDaniel Motor Co. in the case brought by Floyd Davis. The lower court was reversed in the case brought by H. L. Rothchild against George H. Blumenschien. The suit involved a contract for the purchase of a radio. The ruling of the lower court favored Blumenschien. The case was remanded to the lower court for further action.

Perhaps the most important case decided by Judge Scofield was the appeal of Gladys M. Howard in the case brought against her by Esther Geran. The case involved a suit for damages brought by Mrs. Geran against Mrs. Howard. The lower court ruled in favor of Mrs. Geran and Mrs. Howard carried the case to the higher court. Judge Scofield upheld the action of the lower court.

Injuries sustained by Mrs. Geran while she was riding in an automobile driven by Mrs. Howard were responsible for the action. It is understood that an automobile insurance company is involved in the suit.

Suit Dismissed

Suit brought in common pleas court here to collect a stock subscription alleged to have been made to the Cleveland Discount Co. by F. D. McKinnis has been dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff, S. Arraigned in municipal court this morning, Robert Wilson pleaded not guilty, while the elder man pleaded guilty and was fined $10. Robert Wilson will be given hearing Friday.

PRESIDENT HOOVER GOES FISHING

A huge sailfish, seven feet long and weighing 45 pounds, stood to President Hoover's credit in the fishing camp at Florida Keys, after his first day of deep sea fishing. Justice Harlan F. Stone, one of his companions, reported that he had hooked a sailfish he believed was larger than the president's, but a shark had taken it off his line before he could land it. Jerry and Mrs. Milbank, with President and Mrs. Hoover, are shown walking to the boat landing at Long Keys, Fla., to board Mr. Milbank's yacht "Sauntrer," on which the president started his fishing trip.

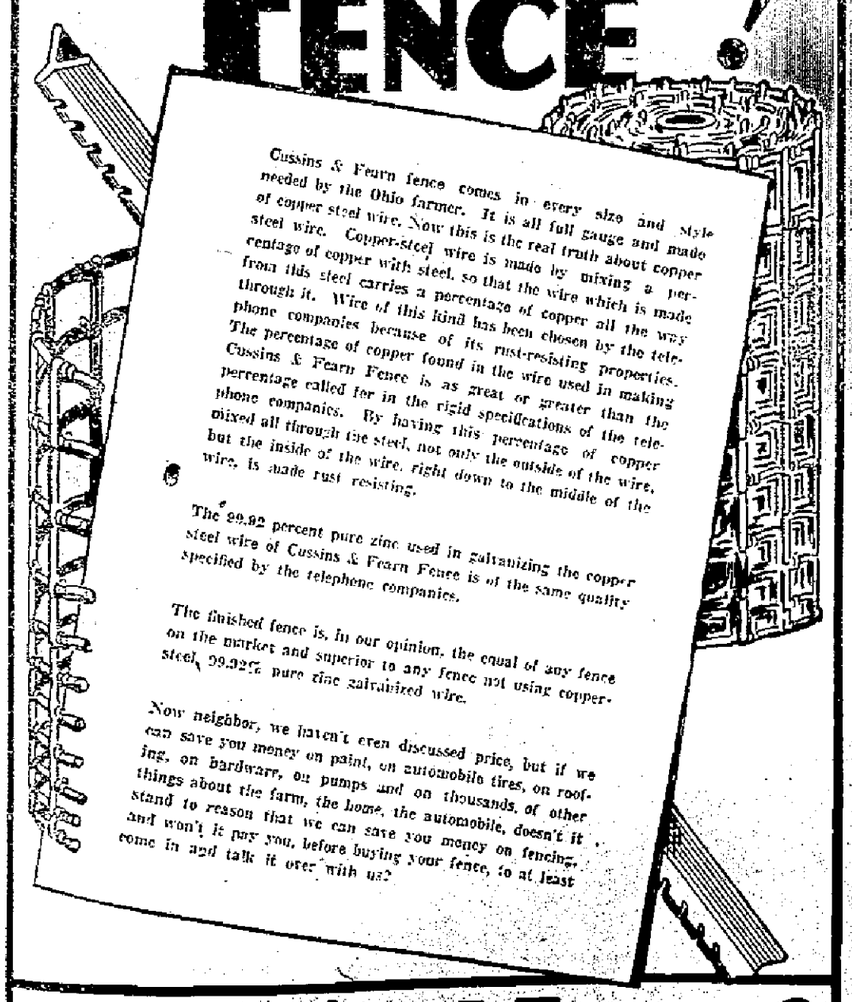
"NEIGHBOR LETS TALK FENCE!



Cussins & Fearn fence comes in every size and style needed by the Ohio farmer. It is all full gauge and made of copper steel wire. Now this is the real truth about copper steel wire. Copper-steel wire is made by mixing a percentage of copper with steel, so that the wire which is made from this steel carries a percentage of copper all the way through it. Wire of this kind has been chosen by the telephone companies because of its rust-resisting properties. The percentage of copper found in the wire used in making Cussins & Fearn Fence is as great or greater than the percentage called for in the rigid specifications of the telephone companies. By having this percentage of copper mixed all through the steel, not only the outside of the wire, but the inside of the wire, right down to the middle of the wire, is made rust resisting.

The 99.92 percent pure zinc used in galvanizing the copper steel wire of Cussins & Fearn Fence is of the same quality specified by the telephone companies.

The finished fence is, in our opinion, the equal of any fence on the market and superior to any fence not using copper-steel, 99.92% pure zinc galvanized wire.

Now neighbor, we haven't even discussed price, but if we can save you money on paint, on automobile tires, on roofing, on hardware, on pumps and on thousands of other things about the farm, the home, the automobile, doesn't it stand to reason that we can save you money on fencing, and won't it pay you, before buying your fence, to at least come in and talk it over with us?

Charged with Laziness

Guilty Simply of Acidity!

That persistent feeling of tiredness—that clouded mind—that lack of dash and fire—that missing punch that decides so many situations in business—are all usually due to an acid system. Excess acid, formed in the stomach as a result of our unnatural eating habits, causes acid-indigestion with gas, sourness and burning and sets up poisonous putrefaction in the gastro-intestinal canal that saps our strength and vitality, taxes our nerves and pulls us down physically and mentally.

Magnesia Oxoids, developed in Germany by a famous, 100-year-old pharmaceutical house, correct acidity in the right way! Upon contact with the acid in the stomach, Magnesia Oxoids generate nascent, or active, oxygen. The "live" oxygen stimulates the alkaline gastric mucus, checks putrefaction in the gastro-intestinal canal and stimulates the activities of the intestinal walls which aids the natural movement of the bowels. All three effects are necessary to the true correction of acidity.

5-Day Acidity Test

To ascertain just how "acid" you are, make this test. Get a package of Magnesia Oxoids from Bradley's Drug Store or any other good druggist. Take two after each meal for five days and see how much better you feel—how much more soundly you sleep and how much more energy you have. If you don't get more than amazing results, return the balance of the Oxoids to the druggist and he will refund the purchase price promptly and in full.—Adv.

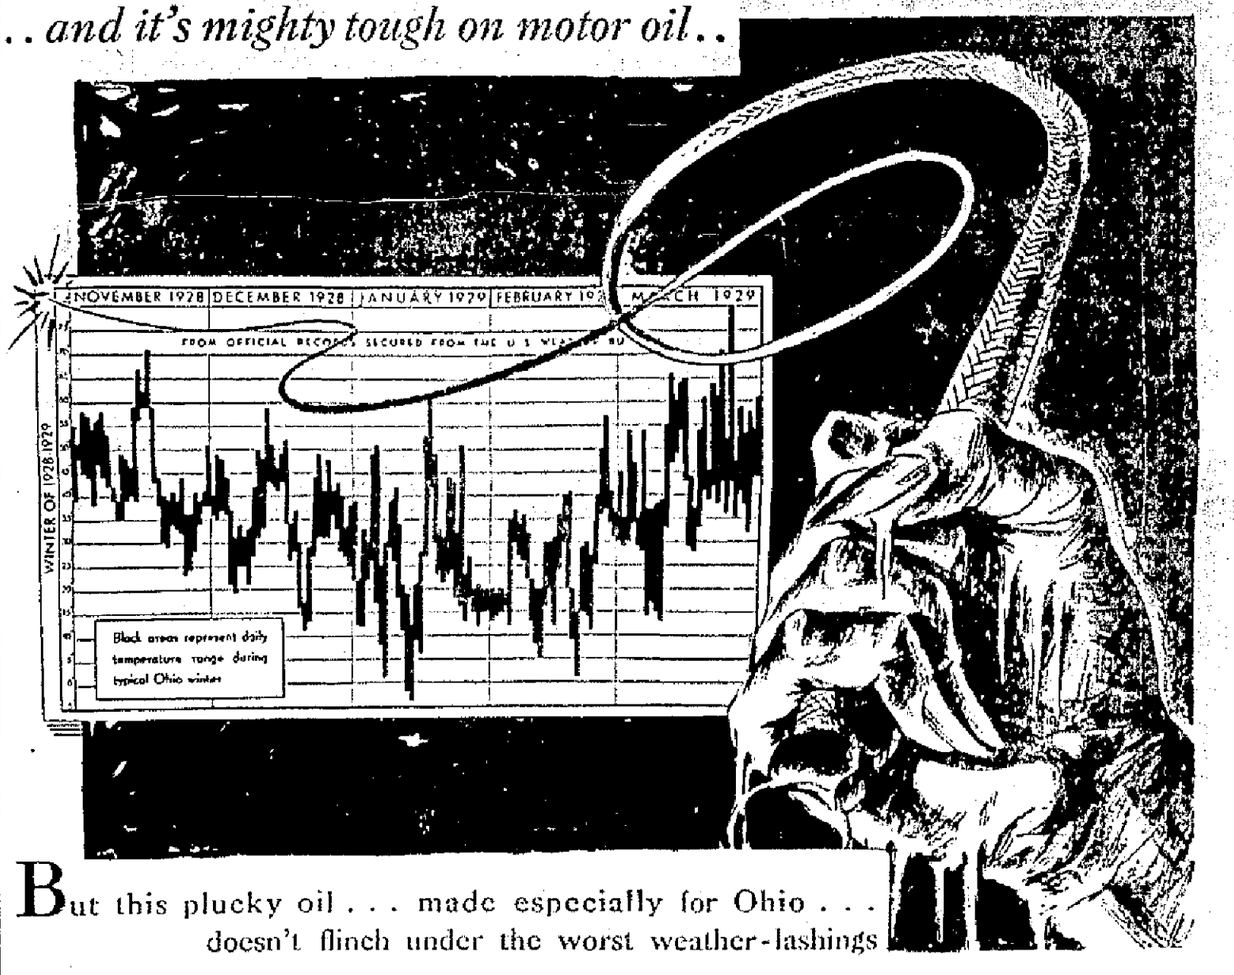
Winter cracks a wicked whip in Ohio . .
. . and it's mighty tough on motor oil . .



But this plucky oil . . . made especially for Ohio . . . doesn't flinch under the worst weather-lashings

New SOHIO MOTOR OIL
free from harmful wax

NEW Sohio Motor Oil has changed old ideas of winter motoring for thousands. Ohio motorists who used to think a certain amount of lubrication trouble in cold-weather could not be helped, have had a pleasant surprise.

New Sohio refuses to be subdued by the stinging lash of Ohio's sharp, shifting weather. Right through the winter, even when the mercury dips to zero, this special motor oil makes starting easier—gives swift, smooth lubrication as the engine warms up—keeps an unbroken film of protection between moving parts under the intense heat of long, high-speed driving.

The amazing flexibility and sturdiness of this 100% paraffin base motor oil is the result of a newly developed process of refining . . . a process which removes the harmful wax at 50° below zero. This leaves an oilier oil—smoother—tougher—longer lasting—the ideal lubricant for Ohio motors.

Expect These Results With New Sohio Motor Oil In Your Crankcase:
Easier starting—less drain on battery.
Less need for slow warming up.
Full, smooth power—unfailing piston seal.
Reduces carbon formation.
Less wear on moving parts.

WINGFOOTS WILL PLAY HERE TONIGHT

STEAM SHOVEL FIVE STRENGTHENED FOR STIFF COURT GAME

Packed House Expected To Witness Outstanding Cage Contest

THE Wingfoots are coming!

The premier basketball attraction of the season will be staged in Marion tonight when the Goodyear Tires of Akron meet the Steam Shovels at the company's gym on West Center st. The contest will be called at 8:15 o'clock.

Officials of the Steam Shovel Athletic association announced today that all indications point to a packed house. The demand has been unusually great for reserved seats. It is believed that fans are rally ing around the Shovel aggregation in hopes that the professional game may be kept alive in Marion. The association had previously threatened to discontinue the sport if it was not given better support in Marion fans.

The contest itself promises to be an unusual battle. For the past two weeks it has been the ambition of the Shovel quintet to work up a combination capable of defeating the Goodyear team. New plays have been worked up and weak positions on the Marion club have been strengthened with the best basketball players available in the state.

Schaub and Appleyard will start at the forwards, Gilham, six foot seven center from Dayton who was named All-American at Syracuse will be at the pivot position. It will be his fourth appearance in the middlewestern states. At the guards will be Compton and Becker. This quintet of stars represent the strongest lineup the Shovels have placed on the floor.

The Goodyear team will be defending its industrial cage championship of the state won last season. The Rubber City five is making another strong bid for the honors again this year.

Marion's cagesters will attempt to mar the so-far perfect industrial record of the Akron team. Coach Francis Bacon is confident that his aggregation will be able to do so. Whether or not Marion wins, the fray promises to be one great battle.

An outside referee will handle the game.

What people say about you behind your back is no more than real estimate of you than what they say to your face.

Baseball Given New Dignity as Bok Prize Goes to Mack

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 12—Baseball carried a new dignity today following the awarding of the $10,000 Edward W. Bok prize for 1929 to Connie Mack, manager of the world's champion Athletics. The award was given for "meritorious service to Philadelphia during the year."

The award, with a scroll, was presented to Mack at a dinner last night. No prize presentation was held owing to the recent death of Mr. Bok in Florida.

As manager of the Athletics Mack has won seven American league pennants and four world championships. Last year the Athletics, after winning the American league title, defeated the Chicago Cubs, champions of the National league.

CLAIMS AMERICAN IS NOT TAKING SCOTT SERIOUSLY ENOUGH

Odds of 13 to 5 on Boston Gob Being Offered in New York Today

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Feb. 12—They are offering 13 to 5 on the street today, with all takers handcuffed, that Sharkey will finish one-two-three in front of Scott down there in Miami 15 nights hence, and, personally, I think that's splendid because, as soon as I can find a good, reliable place to print my money for me, I'll take some of that sport end myself. Rated off the last performances of this pair, Sharkey isn't a gamble. He's an investment. On this basis, he is at least 2 1/2 times the fighter Scott is and needless he would proceed to prove it—except—well, for one thing, he can't seem to convince himself that he isn't more than 2½ times the fighter Scott is.

Show me a confident Sharkey and I'll show you a good prize fighter. Show me either an over-confident or an under-confident Sharkey and I won't have to show you anything. Sharkey will do it. He will show you a very sour evening.

Capable of Most Anything

A strange man, he is liable to do anything at any time. I have seen him put a great fight, bad fights, good fights, terrible fights. The piston of a locomotive is less an in-and-outer than this remarkable Lithuanian who is given to dramatizing even his spare moments out of the ring. Give him a man he can hate with real sincerity and he will make a fight that will send you off into the night, muttering wildly in your delirium. Convince him that a push-over awaits and the thing he is liable to do is nothing all evening. His record is almost a comedy of contradictions.

In all of his 40-odd fights to date, Sharkey really has been great only in two and these were with men whom he couldn't learn to love for themselves alone. He disliked Loughran. He hated Maloney. Both fights were won impressively in the only thing that really impresses anybody—a clean knockout.

Too Interested in Self

Consider him, however, in the rest of the scraps he has made since he got up there in the adult money some three years ago. McTigue? He thought Mike was a chump and almost blew the fight. Dempsey? He was over-confident with this guy that he made no effort to protect his body in the first round and probably still was feeling some of these punches when he went out in the seventh. Heroes? Just another chump. The only trouble was that the chump was headstrong and refused to lose. Risko? This is a fight he blew by winning it before he started. Christner? Here was another chump who made Sharkey come from behind to win. Stribling? This was supposed to be morning gallop but I never heard that he didn't finish it with his mouth open.

It would seem, from this outline, that the trouble with the man is that it is difficult to get him interested in anybody except himself. This fighter is a chump; that one is a bum; another is bum. It seems too bad, in fact that we can't arrange to have Sharkey hate all the other prize fighters because dislike is his inspiration while mere contempt brings a deliberating reaction. He also is nobody's sap when an opponent inspires his respect.

"Folks, I'm going to lock Harry Wills tonight as sure as—," said he over the radio just before he answered the bell with the man who had all the fear of them scared stupid. Jack Sharkey was almost a great fighter that night.

CENTER, GUARD LEAD INDIANA TO VICTORY

Northwestern Cagesters Drop Below .500 Mark for First Time

EVANSTON Ill., Feb. 14—Captain Branch McCracken and Clarence Veller stood out today as the heroes of Indiana's rapid fire basketball victory over Northwestern here last night in which the Hoosiers scored 40 points to their opponents 34.

Indiana moved into the triple tie with Michigan and Illinois for third place in the Western conference standing, and Northwestern for the first time dropped below the .500 per cent mark.

After the first five minutes of play Indiana led at nearly every stage of the game. The victory margin widened during the second half, although Northwestern's attack often threatened to overtake the lead. The Hoosiers led 19 to 16 at the half.

McCracken, with his eight field goals was the star of the game.

Whenever Indiana needed a score either McCracken or Veller, floor guard went out and got one. Veller contributed four baskets. Besides McCracken's scoring drive he led the Indiana attack and controlled the tipoff throughout the game.

Sixteen personal fouls were called on the Hoosiers and only five on Northwestern. Zeller and Veller of Indiana and Riel of Northwestern being sent from the game on this count. Despite the number of fouls the game was not rough.

St. Xavier Falls Before Attack of Lutheran Five

CINCINNATI, Feb. 13—The Wittenberg cagesters, in a rough-and-tumble affair, here last night, subdued the scrappy St. Xavier basketeers by a 27-to-20 count.

The Lutherans led at the half, 11 to 8.

Tracy, Muskegeer center, made good nine free throws and a field goal, during the melee.

Eisle, Lutheran forward, captured high-point honors, by sinking four baskets and four free throws.

PEDIGO UNABLE TO COP WELTER CROWN

Reynolds Retains Title After Losing Second Fall to Smithy

The champion gained the first fall in 10 minutes and 21 seconds. The Louisville Smithy evened up matters when he took the second fall after 10 minutes and 24 seconds of tussling.

Pedigo, entering the final round, turned loose an offensive that had the title holder in a bad way, but the wily Reynolds on the defensive, squirmed free each time when it looked a new champion would be crowned. The Smithy, resuming victory, threw caution to the winds and kept boring in, wasting energy which could have been used to better advantage, today his time, sprang to life with a lightning like move that eventually spelled finis to his already-tired opponent.

The challenger tipped the scales at 145 and Reynolds 140.

SHREFFLER IS HIGH SCORER OF LEAGUE; WILL BE SEEN HERE

Shelby Star Scores 46 Points in Three Contests; Mackey Next High

WHEN Harding plays Shelby in Star auditorium Friday night, the Presidents will be faced with the problem of stopping the high scorer of the North Central league.

Shreffler, the star center of the league leaders, has scored a total of 46 points in three games. Mackey of Galion holds second place in the scoring with 30 points while Berry, of Mansfield is third with 24 points.

Scorers of the Harding team are led by Merkel. He stands in eleventh place in the N. C. O. standings with 15 points. He has played in four league games.

The reason why Galion, Shelby and Mansfield are at the top of the N. C. O. heap can be easily understood by glancing at the scoring record. Each team has three men among the first 10 high scorers in the league. Bucyrus was the only outside quintet to break into the select list. Its representative is Baker who has counted 20 points.

The complete list of scorers follows:

Denison Quintet Chalks Up Victory Over Dayton

DAYTON, Feb. 13—The Dayton "Flyers" today may be termed the "hustlers" as the result of their performance against the Denison five last night, when they received a 60-to-16 beating.

The pick-and-roll Denison basketeers kept the ball on a long shift during the first half for a 17-to-7 count. The three points were made on free throws.

The Flyers cagesters, in the last half, awoke to the fact that a basketball game was to be played and staged a half-hearted rally, which netted them 10 more points.

SHARKEY CONSIDERS LIGHTER WORKOUTS

American Challenger Rapidly Rounding into Shape for Bout

MIAMI, Feb. 14—Rapidly rounding into shape for his battle against Phil Scott, English heavy, here Feb. 27, Jack Sharkey of Boston today considered cutting his workout program. He did no roadwork yesterday because of the illness of his daughter, Martha, and boxed only three rounds.

He may decide to lay off both today and tomorrow.

Scott, in contrast, went through a stiff workout to dispose of surplus weight. He boxed nine rounds with sparring mates and went five rounds with the heavy bags, as well as shadowboxing.

Mike McTigue, the New York boxer, watched Scott perform and expressed the opinion he will give the Bostonian plenty of trouble if he gets by the first three rounds. Scott's famed left is working smoothly and he appears to have improved as a boxer.

Sharkey, who now weighs 200, boxed two rounds with Pierre Charles, landing several jolting left hooks and worked a round with Johnny Grosso. Experts said Sharkey appeared in splendid shape and when he faces Scott will be in the best condition he has ever shown.

Victorio Campolo, Argentine, who meets Johnny Risko of Cleveland on the supporting card of the Sharkey-Scott bout went through his initial work-out at the camp at Coral Gables. He weighs about 205 pounds and shows the effects of a six months layoff.

MORRAL VS. NEVADA

Morral will take on tough opposition on its home court Friday night when it plays Nevada in a non-league contest. Games for the girls' and boys' teams are scheduled.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

At San Francisco—Alex Rowe, Honolulu heavyweight, won on a technical knockout from Jack Lewis, San Francisco, (3).

At Portland, Ore.—Gene O'Grady, Ashland, Ore., light heavyweight, defeated George Richard, Winnipeg (6).

Persecution is visited upon the meek because everybody knows they are all the time ruin of their superior virtue.

15 CANDIDATES OUT FOR BATTERY JOBS ON WESLEYAN NINE

Fritz Mackey Starts First Year as Mentor of Baseball Team

DELAWARE, Feb. 13—Fifteen prospective pitchers and catchers have answered Coach Fritz Mackey's call for battery candidates for Ohio Wesleyan university's 1931 baseball team. The first regular practice of the battery men was to be held in the gymnasium today.

Outstanding candidates among the pitchers are Frank Rice, of Akron, James Vezie, Ray Wilke and Ira Smith. Rice has played on the Bishop nine for two years, alternating at first base and in the outfield. The Rubber City lad has natural ability and Coach Mackey hopes to develop him to handle the hurling burden this year.

Wilke and Smith are both veterans who saw some heavy service in the pitchers box last season and Vezie is the most promising of the three prospects.

Ohio Wesleyan's catchers will be seniors sure to include Elmer Lee of New Philadelphia, and Elmer Dawson, veterans from last year's nine, and Randall Leyshon, of Cleveland, a sophomore.

The coming baseball season will be Mackey's first as the head Bishops mentor. He is a former Ohio State university catcher and captain and has been line coach of the football squad for the past three years. He also holds the position as intramural director of the university.

INDOOR SPRINT MARK FOR WOMEN BROKE

Stella Walsh of Cleveland Clips Two Seconds Off 220 Record

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 13—Stella Walsh of Cleveland today gracefully bow before the athletic world today. In the fifteenth annual Meadowbrook club games held last night Miss Walsh shattered a record recognition the women's world indoor sprinting record, when she whizzed off 220 yards in 26 and 4 seconds.

She clipped two seconds from the old record held by Ellen Braun and Catherine Donovan and the new figure also equals the outdoor record of Miss Brough.

Further Miss Walsh may be given a new record in the 40-yard sprint previously not made standard as she did that distance in 5 and 4 seconds.

Track fans were further thrilled when Chet Bowman of Newark A. A. raced out Jack Elder, Notre Dame luminary of oval and gridiron, in a 40-yard invitational sprint.

Ray Conger, former Iowa State star, running in the colors of the Illinois A. C., won the John Overton one-mile run. Sol Furst of New York university won the 40-yard sprint handicap.

Conger ran a beautiful race time of four minutes and 20 seconds the best performance of the season.

Candidates for Office Are Rescued from "Touches" by New Ohio Statute

Practice of Making "Goats" of Political Aspirants Now Prohibited

A CERTAIN popular variety of sport which has almost invariably flourished just before primaries and elections will flourish no more in Marion county, and the candidacy for any elective office will be a load lifted from his shoulders if an act of the state legislature effective Jan. 1, 1930 is obeyed.

Unlimited members of the state legislature having been through all the trials of securing an elective office and fully appreciating the need of such a measure, last year passed a bill which would prevent committees, lodge committees, committees, and almost every committee from reaping a harvest of dollars each year from candidates for office. The bill was signed.

Prevented from Goat Class

Whether will the candidate be the goat, that and the other donation which is perpetually being sought for any number of "good causes," for the statutes now say that any manner of "touch" made on a candidate is no less than a corrupt practice.

Not even advertising salesmen for theater programs and race card programs will be allowed to high-pressure a candidate into purchasing an impressive back-page spread, if the new law is enforced.

Organizations which seek to add every candidate for office to their membership lists will not be permitted to intimidate a candidate with threats of turning the entire lodge against him if he refuses to join. The new law provides that no candidate may be approached with such solicitation within a six-month period before the election.

New Rules Welcome

There comes, with the passage of this law, the possibility that a good majority of citizens may become candidates for no other reason than to escape the wigings of membership solicitors and donation committees of a hundred varieties.

The cost of becoming a candidate is thus reduced and now assures one of being protected from any advances of pecuniary nature which might otherwise be embarrassing to refuse.

Solicitations for Almost Any Purpose Barred During Campaign

Payment Adds More Debt

Used Car Sold for $7.50 on $88 Account; Sale Costs $21.72

IS a debt paid when it isn't? That is the question that is bothering C. C. White, of Crawford county.

Last October White obtained a judgment of $88.15 against John Dice, of Caledonia. The judgment was returned in the justice of the peace court of Charles F. Monroe in Galion.

When White issued an execution on Dice's automobile through the Marion county sheriff's office he found his debt paid, yet unpaid. It happened this way.

* * *

THE car was estimated to be worth about $50. But it was a used car and that is where the hitch came. When Sheriff John J. Francis put the car on the auctioneer's block it brought exactly $7.50. This didn't make a very big impression against an $88 judgment.

But that wasn't all. The sheriff's costs in levying the execution and selling the car were $13.52 and it cost an additional $8.20 to advertise the sale of the machine in accordance with the law. That made a total of $21.72. Since the car sold for less than the amount of the costs two other parties besides White find themselves holding the bag.

600 OHIO MINERS STRIKE AT BELLAIRE

Walk Out as Protest to Proposed Wage Reduction; Hold Mass Meeting

BELLAIRE, Feb. 13—More than 600 miners of the Powhatan Mining Co. are on strike here today following a walkout as a protest against a proposed wage reduction.

The miners staged the strike yesterday following a mass meeting which was addressed by David Martin, of Cleveland, organizer of the National Miners' union, and Miss Lil Andrews, organizer of the youths' section of the union.

Miss Andrews is at liberty under $5,000 bond in connection with a charge of criminal syndicalism. She is waiting a decision on her appeal from conviction on the charge. She was arrested following a "Red day" demonstration at Martins Ferry several months ago. She is under sentence of an indeterminate term in the Marysville reformatory for the crime.

If one can't say anything witty, naturally he has to say something serious.

Take Pepsin this.

Indigestion

Delightful Elixir With Real Pepsin, Menthol and Other Supremely Good Stomach Aids

If you have a weak, bad acting, rebellious stomach it won't take but a couple of weeks to turn it into a strong, healthy one, capable of digesting the heartiest meal without after distress.

Your stomach needs pepsin—needs it three times a day at every meal and the stomach remedy that you need is Dare's Mentha Pepsin. It will do you more good in two weeks than all the old time relievers will do in a lifetime.

That's just the reason that its sales in good drug stores all over America are enormous—that's why Bradley's Drug Store is selling dozens of bottles every week.

Stop that acute indigestion in a few minutes with just one tablespoonful of this grand stomach regulator.

Take it regularly for two weeks and you'll learn the secret of how to always have and keep a strong healthy stomach.—Adv.

MAY GO ON COURT

Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War in the Wilson Cabinet and one of the outstanding champions of the League of Nations, looms most prominently as the successor to Charles Evans Hughes on the World Court bench. Mr. Hughes will relinquish his membership in the World Court and also in the Permanent Court of Arbitrations at the Hague to take office as Chief Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court.

STRIKE ENDS

Shortest on Record in New York Is Settled by Dressmakers

NEW YORK, Feb. 13—The shortest strike in any majority industry in New York was on record today as a result of the formal settling last night of the dressmakers' walkout. The strike started Feb. 4 when the dressmakers demanded elimination of the sweat shop, shorter hours and higher pay.

Under the terms of the agreement reached 22,000 will return to work at once. Seven or eight thousand additional strikers, employed by independent concerns, will remain idle until separate agreements are reached with their employers.

A 40-hour week was one of the victories of the strike, which was estimated to have cost New York manufacturers $15,000,000 in lost production.

There comes a time in a man's life when he loses faith in making resolutions.

STEPS TAKEN TO ORGANIZE CLERKS

Plans for New Branch of Central Labor Union Discussed at Meeting

Clerks in Marion retail stores may organize a union to be affiliated with the Marion Central Labor Union if plans discussed last night at the central union meeting materialize. The question was taken up last night by the Central union at the request of a number of retail store clerks, it was reported at the meeting. Marion formerly had a union for retail clerks, it was stated today.

The Central union seated delegates from the Carpenters' local, No. 950, the Machinists' local, No. 1059. The carpenters' delegates were A. J. Owens, W. W. Jack, William Worrick, Roe Phelps, and H. A. Claar. The machinists' representative was Edward Moore.

Dr. Roe F. Wilson, who has appeared before members of the Central Labor union twice this year, will return for another address at an entertainment to be held Feb. 26. Refreshments and old-style dancing will be features of the meeting. The public is invited.

ANNUAL PROMISED MANY SUBSCRIBERS

Prospective List of 400 Reported for Junior High Publication

Everett Williams is subscription manager for the Central Junior High school annual, and George Mason is his first assistant. Four hundred promised subscriptions were returned at the close of a recent assembly held to obtain orders for the annual.

A 50-page edition is promised. Two charts have been erected in the main hall of the school, one to indicate the room percentage of subscriptions and the other to record the building percentage. It is hoped by those in charge that the entire 400 subscriptions will be paid by Feb. 11.

A campaign will be held next week to determine a name for the book. Central Junior High school is credited with having the first broadcasting radio in schools in the United States, and for this reason, the first edition of the school annual will be a radio number.

SPLITS CHURCH

The former Catherine Rogers, of Ellicott City, Md., whose marriage to the Rev. Julius A. Velasco, Episcopal rector, at Dayton, Ky., has precipitated a twentieth century "schism" in the Episcopal diocese. Because the wedding ceremony was performed by Father Michael O'Ryan, Catholic priest of St. Joseph's Monastery, Irvington, the groom's ecclesiastical superior is of the opinion the Episcopal rector should relinquish his post.

STOP CATARRH! OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh, just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

Ah! How good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, no more hawking, snuffling, blowing; no more headache, dryness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.—Adv.

CAVALRY WARFARE PICTURED AT SCHOOL

Illustrated Lesson Given for Reserve Officers at Meeting Here

The spirit of dashing horsemen at Fort Riley, the nation's best, the thrill of intricate warfare problems and food such as soldiers never tasted while in action made an interesting evening for 11 reserve officers from this district at the Marion club last night.

"Life o' Riley," a film showing some of the army's best cavalry horses and riders doing their most dangerous stunts, was appropriate for the meeting, which was devoted almost exclusively to cavalry warfare problems.

A hurried but thorough explanation of cavalry warfare, what part the cavalry plays in the modern army, together with films demonstrating these points was given by First Lieutenant Howard M. Taylor, of Fort Riley, Kansas.

Those who took part in the meeting last night were: J. W. Llewellyn, C. M. Perry, Roy Gottschall, P. D. Dwyer, H. L. Taylor and William E. Marsh, of Marion; E. M. Taylor, H. C. Wise and A. I. Lipman, of Columbus, and L. W. Akin, of Mt. Gilead. All are reserve officers or members of the Ohio National Guard.

Indict Coal Company for Coercing Workers

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Feb. 13—Two indictments, charging attempts to coerce coal mined employees to purchase supplies at company stores, had been returned today against the Glendale Coal Co. here.

It is believed that it is the first case of its kind ever to involve a coal company. Marshall county officials said.

The why of a clear skin

A clear, smooth, lovely skin speaks of rich, red blood within. It is Nature's outward reflection of internal healthfulness.

Men and women, both, justly covet admiration and all may expect such satisfaction to its fullest extent if they are the possessors of a clear, unblemished skin.

If you are unfortunate in this respect you owe it to yourself and friends to remove the cause. Nature will then provide the complexion which is so much desired.

More important still, strong healthy blood nourishes the body and fights against infection and disease.

YOUTHFULNESS and BEAUTY

are dependent upon a strong body—firm flesh—a clear skin

NOTHING is more beautiful, more inspiring, more glorified than the supreme manifestation of Nature in the human body. Those sparkling eyes, that clear skin, that firm flesh, and that vigor of action denoting vitality, bespeak loveliness and internal healthfulness.

And so, is it not our birthright to be masters over our own bodies? To be sure, not much is said openly about personal handicaps—skin blemishes—sallow complexion—poor health—but, secretly they influence many important affairs.

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of skin blemishes, lack of appetite, flabby flesh and loss of energy as an indication that the body's power of resistance is low—that there is a deficiency of red-blood-cells.

This is why so many thousands, seeking youthfulness and beauty, have taken a course of S.S.S. It helps Nature restore the blood to its normal state. Without plenty of rich, red-blood-cells there would be no strong, sturdy, powerful men or beautiful, healthy women.

S.S.S.
THE GREAT BLOOD TONIC SINCE 1826

Loss of strength, flabby flesh and skin eruptions are but a few of the symptoms of a deeper and more dangerous trouble—a lack of the normal count of red-cells in the blood.

How S.S.S. BUILDS STURDY HEALTH

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been helping people regain and retain their strength and charm. It promotes healthy body building. It increases the number of red-blood-cells. All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical. S.S.S. Co

THE Marry-Go-Round

BY HELEN ROWLAND

BY HELEN ROWLAND

The Origin of "Necking"

PREDICTING the rise and fall of the stock market is a kindergarten game beside foretelling the fluctuations in woman's waistline—the rise and fall of the meridian in feminine dress—these days.

From Empress Josephine's time, when the "waistline" snuggled coyly up almost under the arms, to flapper days, when it dropped almost to the knees, the vagaries of the feminine waistline have kept man guessing and bewildered.

Neither the mercury nor the skyscraper elevators have anything on woman's hemline when it comes to "going up"—or "going down." And, like them, it doesn't remain in any one place very long.

Just as a man has accustomed himself to reaching for a girl's waist around her hips, bingo goes the meridian—and he has to learn to seek for it as he does for a strap in the subway.

Once, in "waistline times," it did appear to gather and when a man went to encircle a fair damsel's waist, he didn't know whether to slip her the ring or what.

I have never been anybody myself. It stays in a cheaper, more vulgar and not at wood in the English vernacular. I have never heard it. But, whatever that mysterious portion, called "curves," may be there is no doubt that you can blame it all on the vagaries of woman's waistline! And not on the rumble seat of the younger generation.

Once, indeed, way back in the Gibson-girl days, the feminine waistline was an undulating, sumptuous affair that went up in the back and down in the front, like a roller coaster. Now, in the new-old princess manner, it undulates the other way—up in the front and down in the back.

It is enough to make a man sea-sick.

But the patient, long-suffering male creature don't complain. They go right on groping for it, blindly, as the novice gropes for the gears of the car.

The younger and more impressionable set are a little more in their appreciation. But the older and more deliberate have ever spoken for the waistline as being typically that it must be—unseen.

And, in connection therewith with the word "unseen" an unknown name, and probably the most ancient way of keeping a man guessing!

And, the former waistline is so ancient, of course, that no man ever saw it. To mistake a girl's neck for her waist. It may be the doom of mankind. For which let us thank Heaven—and the fashion makers.

This is the first century in history in which working men have got rich in considerable numbers.

STYLE AND VALUE LEADERS

"SHALL SHAPE AND SHADOW OVERFLOW"
(John Greenleaf Whittier, 1807-1892)

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence

Men who would keep that trim, proper figure, women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain that lithe, youthful figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette a man ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough.

*Be Moderate! . . . Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

Drive for War Vets' Compensation Launched in County

DEADLINE ON FILING CLAIMS IS APRIL 6

Local Legion Post and Red Cross Join in Move To Aid Veterans and Dependents

FULL LISTS PUBLISHED

Give Names of Soldiers Who Died in Service and Those Disabled

Bird-McGinnis Post of the American Legion and the Marion Red Cross chapter are making a concerted effort to aid dependents of World war veterans who died in service and veterans who were disabled in service to obtain veterans' compensation to which they are entitled.

All claims of dependents for disabled men for government relief must be filed with the United States Veterans bureau by April 6. Evidence to support the claims in accordance with regulations of the bureau must also be filed by that date. After April 6 no claims for compensation may be filed either by dependents of dead veterans or by disabled veterans. This date has been fixed by act of Congress.

Lists Prepared

Today the legion post announced lists of Marion county men who died in service and of all Marion county men who were disabled in service. It is pointed out that in some cases compensation has been paid but Legion and Red Cross officials believe that many who are entitled to compensation have filed no claims or if they have filed claims they have neglected to furnish the proper evidence to support them.

In publishing the lists the Legion post and Red Cross chapter hope to get in touch with all dependents of disabled veterans who are still entitled to compensation.

Free Service Available

Miss Margaret Dowd, secretary of the Marion Red Cross chapter, will aid dependents and disabled veterans in filing their claims for compensation. Miss Dowd today urged all persons entitled to compensation to call at Red Cross headquarters in the Elder-Phillips building and soon as possible in order that their claims may be started immediately.

Fifty Marion county men died in the service, according to records of the American Legion. While the dependents of some of these men have received compensation it is believed that many others have not.

Finds Happy Home

ONE of the handsomest cats in Marion is a big striped tabby that sums itself in the windows of The Inn, South State st. The cat first came to the eating place, a weak, ugly little stray, with no place to go.

Tom thrived on the good milk and cats and sometimes a mouse caught in the alley, and today he proudly basks in the window, king of all he surveys.

He's friendly after a fashion, but not gushing so that the customers forget for a minute that his is a regal soul, not to be disturbed by the petty affairs of the day.

But once Tom makes a friend, he's always ready and willing to greet that friend with deep purrings and much arching of his beautiful back.

Problem for Deputy

FINDING owners for stray automobiles is all in the day's work for Fred Williams, road deputy in the county sheriff's office. To him that is no more out of the ordinary than getting up in the morning.

But last week Williams was called upon to find the owner for a stray vehicle that caused the deputy more worry than usual. The reason was that there was no license plate on the vehicle through which the owner could be traced.

The absence of the tags was due to the fact that the vehicle was a buggy, with horse attached, instead of an automobile. Williams found the horse, with buggy attached, ambling slowly toward Marion on the Bucyrus pk.

While an automobile is a relatively easy matter to dispose of, so far as storage is concerned, a horse is a different matter. The problem was taken out of the deputy sheriff's hands after a few hours when Sam Scribner, North Main st., claimed the stray property. Scribner had been husking corn on the Charles Linn farm on the Bucyrus rd. when the horse strayed away.

Street Forum Revived

THE gentle art of street corner argumentation, which was suddenly shelved last fall with a number of other popular warm weather sports when Old Man Winter took possession of Marion streets, has been budding under the influence of a kindly sun on a number of recent afternoons.

Armed with a stock of wit and logic developed by the fireside while winter months were raging without, the teams of aged and not so aged debaters peculiar to every town and city are now digging up old unsettled questions, digging up buried hatchets, and reviving every discussable topic to occupy idle moments.

Street debaters anticipate an active spring, summer and fall, for there are now several new topics for street corner discussion which bloomed during the winter.

For instance, what will the cronies think of the prohibition question? Is the country going dry, or continue as it is? Or will prohibition be lifted? That question will take at least three weeks of active debating before some oratorical genius silences the question with his silver tongue and magnificent gestures.

Every question of little or much importance will receive its share of discussion and criticism during the balmy month that are to come. Even the question of long or short skirts will come in for its division at the hands of this group of debaters.

Missle from Sky

FRANK THEW, 132 John st., has in his possession what he believes to be a piece of a meteor, which fell on his farm in Union county in 1880. Attracted by a recent article in this paper telling of a foot-shaped piece of a meteor, Thew brought his piece to The Star office for inspection.

Thew says his dark-colored piece of material, which weighs about three pounds, was found in the heart of a rotted tree trunk. He points out the likeness of an Indian face on one side of the chunk, and says that the entire piece assumes a bluish cast, when held in the sunlight. In electric light it appears to be coal-black.

Former Pilot of Air School Reports Loss

When Lieut. H. H. Hunter, former pilot of the Marion Aircraft Corporation, started from Marion enroute to Indianapolis yesterday, a parachute bag which had been placed on the front of his automobile was lost on the road a short distance west of the city. Lieut. Hunter drove back over the same route but was unable to find the bag, in which a number of his military properties had been wrapped. He is especially desirous of regaining possession of the parachute bag, which is the property of the U. S. war department. Hunter has offered a reward for its return and has asked that he be notified at his address in Indianapolis.

It's not a wise dog that wants to see the world. First thing he knows he's lost and sees altogether too much of it.

LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY OBSERVED AT SCHOOL

Central Junior High Pupils Honor Memory of Great Emancipator

Lincoln's birthday was appropriately observed at Central Junior High school Wednesday. Four of the rooms gave programs that included some mention of Lincoln.

Dorothy Cosgrove was in charge of the program in room one. Nancy Carshadden delivered Lincoln's Gettysburg address, following a recitation of "Oh Captain, My Captain," by Eleanor Cowan. A quotation on Lincoln was given by Dorothy Conklin.

"The Anniversary of Lincoln's Birthday" was read by Miss Helen Roby, teacher in Room 17, at the program hour, and later she read details of Lincoln's death from the New York Herald. Other stories and poems were read by members of the class. The program was closed with a story from "Lincoln," by Miss Roby.

The boys of Room Seven put on the program in that room. It was as follows: reading, Donald Preuninger; talk on Abraham Lincoln, Lawrence Randall; talk on Abraham Lincoln, Mrs. Caroline Struthers; contributions on Lincoln by members of the class, Charles Reece was chairman of the program.

Room 21 gave a special Lincoln Day program. Quotations from Lincoln's life were given by each pupil, after which the salute to the flag was made. "Life of Lincoln" was read by Virginia Stafford. A poem, "Was Lincoln a King?" was read by Margaret Spanicek, after which "America the Beautiful" was sung. Vocationals were led by LaVelle Thomas.

Room 10 entertained Room 22 with the following program: Scripture reading, Barbara Fralick; manner reading, Helen Gempf; flag salute by the class; piano solo, William Mickey; piano solo, Mary Schweinfurth; poem, Isabelle Kelly; piano solo, Doris Pogelson; poem, Katherine Harvey; school song.

RETURNS TO U. S.

Maurice Dekobra, world famed author, has returned to the United States from a triumphal journey through Europe. The noted author has several new books which are graphic descriptions of the countries and people he has met in his extensive travels. One of the reasons of Mr. Dekobra's successes as an author is his exactitude of details, and his rule never to describe a country, its people or its morals without having made a personal observation of them.

Outdoors a Pippin ...indoors a Pest

For every woman there is a sermon in the case of this lovely Philadelphia girl (name withheld). Outdoors others found her so charming, so gay. But in the drawing room they politely avoided her. She couldn't understand it. The truth is that her trouble, which went unnoticed in the open air, became instantly apparent—and offensive—indoors.

Don't fool yourself

It's folly to assume that you never have halitosis, the unforgivable social fault. One out of every three is either an occasional or constant offender, surveys show.

Halitosis is caused by fermenting food particles in the mouth. Minor infections of the oral tract. Bad teeth, and Pyorrhea.

Kills germs—Destroys odors

Since you, yourself, cannot tell when you have halitosis, the wise precaution is to gargle with full strength Listerine. Every morning. Every night. And between times before meeting others.

Undiluted Listerine strikes at the cause of odors because it's an active—though safe—germicide. Even the stubborn Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) germ is killed by it in 15 seconds.

Furthermore, being a powerful deodorant it immediately destroys all odors arising in the mouth. Leaves your breath sweet and normal.

Rich Women

Rich women who know value prefer LISTERINE TOOTH PASTE at 25¢ to dentifrices costing more.

Be at your best

Keep Listerine handy in home and office and use it often. By the way, our free Book of Etiquette may interest you. Address Dept. H 8, Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

THE SAFE ANTISEPTIC

How Ford Methods Cut Cost of Distribution

Lower profits in selling save you at least $50 to $75 in addition to the many savings in manufacturing

TWENTY-SEVEN years ago the Ford Motor Company was formed to provide reliable, economical transportation for all the people. That original purpose has never changed. The constant effort in every activity is to find ways to give you greater and greater value without extra cost—frequently at lowered cost. This applies to distribution and similar important factors, as well as manufacture.

For the Ford Motor Company believes that its full duty is not only to make a good automobile at the lowest possible price, but to see that there is no waste, extravagance, or undue profit in any transaction from the time the car leaves the factory until it is delivered to your home. It is obvious that hard-won savings in production will be of little value if they are sacrificed later through excessive selling costs.

EVERY purchaser of a motor car has the right to know how much of the money he pays is for the car itself and how much is taken up by dealer charges. If these charges are too high, one of two things must happen. Either the price of the car must be raised or the quality lowered. There is no other way. The money must come from somewhere.

In the case of the Ford, the low charges for distribution, selling, financing and accessories mean a direct saving of at least $50 to $75 to every purchaser in addition to the still greater savings made possible by economies in manufacturing. Ford charges are not marked up or increased to cover a high trade-in allowance on a used car.

The profit margin on the Ford car has always been fair to both the dealer and the public. Within the past three months, it has been possible to effect still further economies. Today, the discount or commission of the Ford dealer is the lowest of any automobile dealer. The difference, ranging from 25% to nearly 50%, comes right off the price you pay for the car.

THE business of the Ford dealer is good because he makes a small profit on a large number of sales instead of a large profit on fewer sales. He knows, too, that the extra dollar-for-dollar value of the car makes it easier to sell and more certain to give satisfactory service after purchase.

Consider also that the Ford car is delivered to the purchaser equipped with a Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, an extra steel-spoke wheel, and bright, enduring Rustless Steel for many exterior metal parts, in addition to four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers and fully enclosed four-wheel brakes.

If for any reason you wish to buy certain small accessories, you will find that these, too, are sold at the usual Ford low prices. Replacement parts are also available at low prices through Ford dealers in every section of the country.

THESE are important points to remember in considering the purchase of a motor car. They show why it is possible to put so much extra quality into the new Ford and still maintain the low price. They are also the reasons why more than 35% of all cars sold today are Model A Fords.

The pastor of a church in Atlanta, Georgia, is advocating jail sentences for the guilty parties in divorce actions. Manifestly the good reverend doctor is the friend of the building contractors.

Listed among the meanest of the mean may be the fake solicitors for Washington's community chest, who are charged with securing contributions without authority and converting them to their own use.

The new twenty-passenger flying boats will be placed in operation between Detroit, Cleveland and Buffalo early in the coming spring. That should afford speedy relief for any involuntary dryness suffered by good, law-abiding Clevelanders.

An Illinois man has sent to the treasury department in Washington for recovery a nightgown lined with $200 in United States currency left by an eccentric aunt. Sewing up money is not uncommon, but the plan of the Hoosier's deceased relative must be admitted to be something of a departure from the ordinary.

Over a hundred would-be emigrants who paid from five dollars to $100 each for forged passport visas are being held in Poland. Europeans may not like our country, but there are few means they will hesitate about employing to get into it.

The death tax on the $22,000,000 estate left by the late Lord Forteviot, formerly John Alexander DeWar, head of the famous Scotch whisky firm, was $8,500,000. It's a toss-up which is the more strikingly brought out—the profit in the liquor business, or the close approach to confiscation of property by legal processes to carry on government over in England.

Readers of general news may have noted a matter for congratulation in the recent attitude of pardon and parole boards in refusing to recommend clemency with the freedom which formerly obtained. If there has been the reform indicated, it is to be hoped that it will prove lasting. The abuse of pardon and parole systems has been notorious.

The sinking of a 13,183-ton German liner at her dock in New York City as a result of explosions following a fire in one of her holds, naturally brings up the question of the right of boats carrying passengers to carry explosive articles. What might have been the fate of her passenger list of almost 300 had the explosions occurred at sea is sickening even in contemplation.

Congressman James M. Beck, of Pennsylvania, expressed to a Cleveland gathering a fear that the people of the United States have become so movie-minded that they are no longer able to understand the constitution of the United States. Can it be that all the money we have paid out in the assurance that Will Hays would see that the movies are educationally inspiring has been wasted?

Spurns $150,000 Heart Balm Award.

Heart balm to the amount of $150,000, the largest sum ever awarded by a court in a breach-of-promise proceeding, has been spurned by the young woman of Detroit in whose favor a jury up there returned a verdict of $150,000 against a wealthy real estate operator.

Possibly the young woman's counsel plans to set up prejudice on the part of the court on the strength of the latter's remarks in announcing his reduction of the award from $450,000 to $150,000. We haven't knowledge on this point, of course. It's a mere surmise on our part, but any woman over thirty will probably stand on the proposition that if the court were not prejudiced, he was needlessly unfeeling.

"We must not be unmindful," the court said, "that the plaintiff was thirty-one at the time of her alleged engagement, and was an experienced woman in the world, having operated rooming-houses. She had arrived at the age and condition of life where disappointments become rather the rule than the exception, relative to promises of marriage."

Any member of the gentler sex who has arrived at the full bloom of glorious womanhood should, and probably will, utterly repudiate the intimation that she has reached an age where her prospects for loneliness and sorrow are greatly out of all proportion to her chances for marriage and companionship. And even were the contrary true as the court held, all the greater should be the measure of damages. In any event, no court has the right to assume that the hope which is held to spring eternal in the human breast no longer dwells in the heart of a woman of thirty-one.

But aside from all this, we can not evade the thought that this Detroit young woman is making a mistake. Were we her counsel, we would point out to her that a $150,000 award in hand is worth a couple of $150,000 verdicts in the bush.

Our Laws Again Inadequate.

It is hard to conceive the viciousness of heart which prompted some person, or persons, to set fire to the "Orphans of the Storm" kennels of Mrs. Frederick McLaughlin, of Forest Park, Illinois, formerly Irene Castle, which resulted in the burning to death of eighty-three highly-bred dogs, yet the fact that fire was applied to the kennels in three places makes certain that it was a case of incendiarism.

The kennels burned were built by Mrs. McLaughlin at a cost of $10,000 in a sparsely-settled district three miles from Deerfield and seven miles from the McLaughlin residence in Forest Park. They were so located that they might be sufficiently far away from any residence that the barking of the dogs might not prove a nuisance.

The purpose of the kennels was to afford a home for highly-bred dogs taken up by the dog catchers and unclaimed until such times as they might be claimed by their owners or good homes secured for them. In a word, Mrs McLaughlin's work was one of mercy to dogs which had strayed and dogs which had been stolen and escaped those stealing them and been taken by dog-catchers before they succeeded in finding their way home.

There were 113 fine dogs in the kennels at the time a keeper discovered that they had been set afire and but thirty were rescued before the flames reached them, chemical extinguishers having proved ineffective in putting out the flames, so great was the headway gained by them, and the water supply proving inadequate.

Mrs. McLaughlin will rebuild the kennels and continue her humane work, but this will not bring back the lives of the eighty-three poor dogs, each of which was of far more worth than the life or lives responsible for its destruction.

The fact that several persons have complained to the prosecutor of Lake county that the refuge constituted a nuisance may lead to arrests for the crime, but no punishment which may be inflicted under the law is commensurate with the malicious heartlessness of the action which brought such a horrible death to nearly a hundred helpless dogs. The laws of civilization frequently prove weak in administering adequate punishment for the crimes of the fiendish.

An Atlanta, Georgia, grocery store has been burglarized five times in the last six months, the burglars adding insult to injury on their last visit by taking and carrying away the grocery guard's shotgun. That grocer would be almost justified in taking out burglary insurance.

Twenty-nine thousand of the 35,000 striking garment workers in New York City have gone back to work in union shops, the 6,000 still out being employes of non-union concerns. That should make some dent, at least, in the city's problem of unemployment.

They Are Cowards, Hence Dangerous.

Dennis Cannon, twenty-two, was a "hard-boiled" gunman up to Tuesday of this week. For months he had been one of the toughest of Chicago's tough criminals. None of them could be tougher than this Cannon when he held his robbery victims helpless at the point of his pistol. A typical illustration of his toughness was offered when he held up a jewelry store last December. Having tied up the two men running the store, he put in the time beating them over the head with the butt of his gun while deliberating if the situation might not be such that it would be better to kill them.

But when he appeared in court to answer to the charge of burglary and saw that the state had a case against him, he pleaded guilty and begged the judge and the prosecutor to be merciful with him. And when the court gave him the maximum sentence of one year to life in the penitentiary the tears ran down his face and he sobbed like a child.

And that's the way with a lot of the gunmen. They are mighty tough when things are all their way; when they have their helpless victims covered. But a lot of these hard-boiled gunmen, when the test comes, are found to be nothing more than snivelling cowards and the toughness they show nothing more than camouflage to keep up their courage and conceal their cowardice. When the tide turns against them, they break down and sob.

The sad phase of the thing is that criminals of this class are the more dangerous while the advantage is with them because they are cowards. Cowards on slight excuse will go to extremes men possessed of bravery would not contemplate. Such gunmen are often painted as courageous, but in reality they are nothing more than cowardly little cusses.

The 612 passengers aboard the Mauretania on her last westward trip claim she did a regular shimmy when hit by a ninety-mile wind. Not so surprising. Her build and speed combine to make her do something approaching a shimmy in ordinary weather.

Hereafter persons found in New York's public places with liquor on their persons are to be placed under arrest, according to the latest dry-enforcement announcement issued there. If this restriction of their liberties continues much longer, those poor New Yorkers will just about have to do their drinkin' at home.

A Washington paper says that the senate insurgents do not hope to defeat the approval of the nomination of Mr. Hughes for chief justice of the United States. Of course not. It's as plain as the nose on a man's face that their purpose is simply to deliver a slap at a distinguished conservative and at the same time further their campaign to embarrass the administration.

The young man arrested up in Muskegon, Michigan, charged with shooting, dismembering and burying a young woman of that place, has pleaded guilty. That fellow hasn't any sympathy whatever, it is apparent, for the feelings of the onlookers. He is liable to be put away before they are able to break into full voice.

ANOTHER POSSIBLE OUTRAGE.

Banish Harmful Habits.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

What habits have you that may cause ill health?

Is there some pet food that always makes you sick and yet which you can not resist? Eating habits are among our worst practices.

Do you run into the open air, hot and perspiring perhaps, but reckless of what sudden exposure may do to your health? Lots of good women do that, and too many men.

Are you just as careful as you should be about cleanliness of the skin, particularly of every part of the body where two skin surfaces come together? If not, the itching, burning and discomfort in these regions are accounted for easily.

What care do you give the nose? The use of soiled handkerchiefs and failure to practice cleanliness of nostrils may account for frequent colds.

What about the eyes? Does it hurt to read or sew? Do you have eyeaches and headaches and other pains that might be traced to eyestrain? If your glasses have not been changed for a long time, or if you never had your eyes examined, it is time to see about them.

Do you hear as well as you did? If not, why not? Perhaps there is too much wax in the canal, or that some other ear trouble needs attention.

What about the intestinal tract? Do you have regular bowel action. If there is constipation, or if the movements are too free, something is wrong with the eating, or other personal habits.

These are a few of the many symptoms and a hint as to several organs that may be troubling you. After you have considered these, give a little study to your own physique, if you are not feeling exactly fit. Serious thought will lead you to some conclusions which will help your doctor a lot.

Now, as I've reached the point: Don't wait till you are really sick before seeing the doctor. The greatest pleasure the doctor has, is not to struggle with desperate disease. Rather it is to prevent sickness.

The doctor can't be very proud when he is reminded of a sick, debilitated, broken-down patient. When he smiles it is when you remind the doctor of some red-cheeked, cherry-lipped, robust individual and ask him how he ever did it!

I beg of you to be healthy by keeping well, not by getting well. Take care of your ailments just as soon as they arrive. Form such habits of living that you won't have ailments.

That's that!

Editorial Opinion.

SNIPING AT MR. HUGHES.

The fight that Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, is leading against confirmation of the appointment of Charles Evans Hughes as chief justice of the United States is not likely to block that appointment.

We are glad that is so, for we believe Mr. Hughes is eminently qualified for the place filled long and ably by William Howard Taft.

But the unusual situation of senate opposition to the appointment of a supreme court justice merits some consideration of its causes.

Senator Norris is a liberal, but is very far removed from extreme radicalism. His most conservative colleagues would not call him "red" or even "pink." His liberal temperament is well balanced. Therefore his stand against the Hughes appointment can profitably be studied even by those who do not agree with him.

We are not impressed by his chief contention that Mr. Hughes' "viewpoint is clouded" by the fact that as counsel he has appeared before the supreme court in some fifty cases in which he has "represented corporations of almost untold wealth."

Our first answer to that indictment is: What of it? Mr. Hughes, the attorney, has demonstrated legal ability that has brought him the kind of clients the average lawyer dreams about but rarely gets. Is it not reasonable to assume that this ability which has proved of such value to Mr. Hughes, the barrister, in his private practice will add greatly to the worth of the service that will be rendered by Mr. Hughes the jurist? The supreme court in the last analysis is the servant of the people. Thus the people will now have the benefit of that legal skill for which private clients paid Mr. Hughes, the barrister, large fees.

Any lawyer who amounts to anything learns early in his career the ability to see things objectively. He does not acquire the viewpoint of a criminal because he defends that criminal in the courts. Neither is there any reason to believe that Mr. Hughes, because he has had clients of great wealth, has lost interest in persons and causes not associated with great wealth.

The other point of Senator Norris' objection, that Mr. Hughes having resigned from the court to seek a political office should not return to the court after having failed to attain that office, would have more weight if the return to the court had followed directly after the campaign. It is nearly fourteen years since the 1916 presidential campaign. Surely it is absurd to assume that Mr. Hughes' experience could be construed as sanctioning "leave of absence" from the supreme bench to engage in partisan politics.

Mr. Hughes is not a liberal in the sense that Senator Norris would employ that term. Neither is Mr. Taft, so their exchange does not affect the temperamental balance of the supreme court. There are many people besides Senator Norris who would like to see more men of distinctly liberal thought on the nation's highest bench. The only pronounced liberals there now are Justices Holmes and Brandeis, with Justice Stone often leaning their way.

In our scheme of check and balance government the supreme court serves as a check on other branches that may be more radical but usually are not. So it is not unsound that there should be some conservative strength to the court. But there can easily be too much.

Justice Holmes and Brandeis are old, as are several of their more conservative colleagues. It is highly probable that President Hoover will be called upon to fill one or more places on the supreme bench within the next two or three years.

We believe that when that time comes the naming of able lawyers of liberal temperament, of whom there are plenty available, will strengthen the court and at the same time answer the criticism that is expressed, we believe unwisely, in the opposition to the confirmation of Mr. Hughes.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE ONE HOPE.

One of the organizers of "The Crusaders," a new society, "made up of young men opposed to prohibition as it now exists," says that "we are a temperance, not a wet, organization."

The distinction drawn is real and material; and if it represents the genuine position of the new movement, a movement designed to become of national scope, those engineering it are undertaking a difficult and delicate job; but a job which somebody should attempt for the good of the country.

At present the drys are organized and the wets are organized, and both are showing so much tendency toward a condition of chronic rabies, that as long as they dominate the situation with their warfare, there is practically no hope of a solution of the fearful problem which has arisen as a result of the refusal of the country to abide by the decision it made in passing the eighteenth amendment.

The only hope seems to be the possible appearance of a mild-blood-thereof movement, composed of reasonable and reasoning people who will look at facts as they are and proceed accordingly. If "The Crusaders" prove to be the pioneers of such a movement they will deserve the name they have adopted.—Detroit Free Press.

The Unknown Antarctic.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

It is often asked, by the man in the street, with reference to the discovery, or rather attainment, of either North or South polar "What, after all is done, will those polar regions be worth, practical, tangible expenses, of no possible value to the world. After you and the poles, what are you going to do with it? Who wants to annex those regions to the United States, or claim possession of them by right of discovery and occupation? I can't see what useful purpose is accomplished by polar exploration."

Already, repeatedly and most effectively, Stefansson and many other explorers have answered this question. A possible world food-supply, as found in the reindeer, has often been urged as a sufficient excuse for studying extreme regions of the Far North. The claims of science are urged, the correct mapping of the surface, the determination of the shore line, the depth of the water areas, the discovery of possible sources of wealth. Man, especially scientific man, can not rest content until he has acquired more or less exact knowledge of the surface of the globe, and of its interior.

There is something irresistibly fascinating about the Antarctic, which is virtually an unknown land. When Captain James Cook, more than a century and a half ago, on his return to England after a long voyage into Antarctic seas reported having seen huge herds of fur-bearing seals, he set in motion a trade that was eventually to lead to the discovery of the polar continent called Antarctica. This vast area is estimated at five million square miles.

Commander Bellinghausen, of the Russian navy, is believed to have discovered the first land sighted within the Antarctic circle, two islands, in 1821. But he had been anticipated in a sense by an American sealing captain, Nathaniel B. Palmer, who had recently discovered the archipelago or mountainous mass near Graham land, which Bellinghausen named "Palmer Land." James Weddell discovered the great sea which bears his name; and subsequently, discoveries of both land and sea were made by the Frenchman, Captain d'Urville, the American, Charles Wilkes, and the Englishman, Captain James Clarke Ross. It is well established that d'Urville discovered Adelie Land, one large sector of which was named Wilkes Land, in honor of Lieutenant Wilkes. Ross discovered the active volcano, Mount Erebus; but his greatest discovery was the great ice barrier, which bears his name. This apparently solid mass of ice, of gigantic size, runs in an easterly direction from Ross island, on which stands Mount Erebus. The mighty barrier of ice which bears Ross' name is estimated to embrace the huge area of 160,000 square miles.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Feb. 13—The zero hour in show people is when, especially after an extended run, the closing notice goes up on the back stage bulletin board. A theatrical company despite its flurry of petty jealousies becomes a closely-knitted family.

For stars and principals it is economically only a brief vacation but for the great majority it means the weary rounds of the agencies and hunt for jobs. Sentimentally it is a heart wrench for all and there is no person so sentimental as the hardened troupers.

Their illusive world of spot-lights, music, laughter and suppressed excitement crumbles over night and all must go separate ways. Life again becomes a stark reality—a plunge into genuine distress. Players, stage hands, electricians and even doormen are effected.

With it all no class of people are so courageous in misfortune. I have heard many in other walks of life—and turned on the tears myself—wail over the sudden stoppage of income, but I have yet to hear a performer whine when he faces the tedium of being at liberty."

The most improvident of all, they are cheerist when there is little about which to be cheerful. Indeed, it is the custom on closing nights to clown the show. Audiences are frequently attracted on such occasions just to see what spontaneous foolery will take place.

One of the gaudy fables is the reputed haughtiness of stage stars toward their less brothers and sisters. Some of the closest attachments in the theater are among stars and principals and those in the chorus or other minor roles in the same company.

I was in at the death of a recent closing. After the curtain fell, all struggled up from dressing-rooms in street clothes. The star, a truly great lady of exotic beauty, moved among them with effortless grace, shaking hands with the men and kissing the women. As she rushed to her car, her eyes shone with tears.

We are always newly amazed by the readers of great cities. With populations reaching the millions, skyscrapers, electric power and all the wonders of metropolitan life, one thinks of the city as the last word in present civilization. The fact is that this is the age of the small town. Rural areas are coming into their own. The village is making a successful bid for industry. The drift from the small towns to the cities is not so great. The pendulum is swinging back.

* * *

It takes the editor of a small paper to paint the brighest picture of the "back to rural America" movement. Hear the Lowview, Washington, Daily News:

"Not long ago the nation was stirred by the drift of population away from farms and rural areas into the great cities. Young men attracted by the high wages paid by industry and what appeared to be the superior social and economic advantages of urban life, deserted the soil for the city.

"In the past quarter century rural America has made tremendous progress. Better schools, good roads, the automobile, telephone and radio have created a rural civilization greater than any in history.

"Industrialists, attracted by such factors as lack of labor difficulties, low taxes and uncongested, pleasant living and working conditions, were barred from entry into the small town only because of lack of power.

"Now, according to authorities, the small towns are on the road to industrial leadership of America and the countryside is set for the next scene of our industrial progress. The drift of population has turned. At present the only pronounced gain in industrial wage earners is taking place in the country."

Hylan Claims Judges Can Stamp Out Racketeering

Former Mayor of New York City Says Police Heads Lean Toward Underworld When Latest American Type of Crime Flourishes

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(Copyright 1930 by I. N. S.)

MIAMI BEACH, FLA., Feb. 15.—Racketeering, which has reared its ugly head in leading American cities, can be stamped out, according to John F. Hylan, former mayor of New York City, "if governing officials in all branches perform their full duty and administer the law without fear or favor."

Hylan made this assertion in an exclusive interview today.

"The police have the cooperation of the judges and the administrators of criminal law in any state or city racketeering cannot exist," said Hylan.

"Racketeering is comparatively new in American life. It has its roots in politics and it has been given impetus by prohibition which has bred a disregard for law in certain quarters.

"When racketeering flourishes in any city it is a sure sign that the police commissioner, or head of the police department, is more in sympathy with the underworld interests than with those who want the city run decently. The trouble with police departments in many of our big cities is that men are placed in charge who are no more fitted to administer that department because of their inexperience than a bootblack is fitted to run a barber shop."

Scores Crooked Judges

Judge Hylan said he has seen racketeering grow from a small sinister business to its present powerful proportions. He took a shot at judges who fail to do their duty in dealing with racketeers and toss the whip when they are brought before the bar of justice. He scored the machinations of politics that shield and protect the racketeers.

"Too many public officials, including judges, become submissive to a higher power—an invisible government," Judge Hylan declared. "I don't express this 'invisible government.' The fact is that today the same financial group runs both political parties in almost every state and city. By virtue of this situation the political boss becomes arbitrary and dictatorial.

"Public officials, unfortunately, become most submissive to this power. They are subservient to the political boss and his clique. In some instances judges, in building up their own personal political following, become associated with the gunmen and racketeers themselves."

Need Fearless Men

Judge Hylan declared one of the major problems of nearly every city in the country is to obtain high caliber and fearless men to hold public office.

"There is a lack of men with individuality and ability who, at the same time are independent and free of obligations to any group of men—political or otherwise," said former Mayor Hylan. "Our leading cities do not have their best available timber in public office.

"Worth while men in our various big cities often avoid public office because they realize if they do their duty fearlessly they will be persecuted and attacked. This is most unfortunate but it is true."

He said that when he went into the mayor's office in New York City in 1918 the "profiteering group" tried to "get" him.

"First they tried to get to me through powerful politicians," Hylan recited, in revealing the difficulties in the path of a man holding high public office, "but that didn't work.

"Second they tried to get me through social recognition. This insidious procedure didn't work either.

"They they tried to get me by the use of money. When that didn't work they tried to get me by abuse and by threats of indictment by the grand jury and state investigating committees.

"When that didn't work they organized to drive me out of the mayor's office by bitterly criticising me in the press and getting to the political boss so I would be refused a renomination."

Hylan spoke not in bitterness but as a matter of information. He said that when public men have to do their sworn duty under such circumstances it is no wonder that many capable business and professional men shy from accepting political office of any kind.

Tells How Fat Men Can Lose Half Pound a Day

Here's a simple way to get rid of that corpulency and quickly feel in both body and mind the joy of living.

Start taking Kruschen Salts—but the commencement was to reduce—it don't take them very long to find that they possess reducing qualities in themselves.

It's the safe way, for by every day you continue this easy method of losing unwanted and unneeded flesh you'll gain in energy, vigor and endurance.

Now there is no doubt about it, more exercise means more fat. It means that your blood is starving for the six vital salts your internal organs need to keep your youthful active, ambitious and keen in mind.

When you take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts every morning in a glass of hot or cold water you get those six vital salts which moderate foods and cooking do not supply.

This is what they do—they clean out the impurities in your blood by keeping the bowels, kidneys and liver in splendid working shape and fill you with a vigor and tireless energy you'd most forgotten had existed.

The urge for activity will be so marked that even at the end of a hard day's work you'll feel ready for any social activity or recreation—you can play as hard as you work.

And after two weeks your excess flesh starts to go—you'll know it—feel it to say it—the scales will tell the story.

As one, once corpulent man remarked—"I feel so energetic that I want to get up with the lark and I'm just as lively as a cricket."

Kruschen Salts is not a purgative or a cathartic but a real system conditioner and for those who are the victims of constipation or torpidity its daily use soon means blissful regularity.

Get an $8 cent bottle of Kruschen Salts—last 4 weeks—at Bradley's Drug Store or any druggist in the world.

Quaker Crackels . . . new invention of Quaker Oats Scientists. It's America's newest and most delicious cereal.

HERE'S a cereal that's really new. Not just "another cereal"—but something entirely different from anything you've ever tasted before. New in flavor, new in crispness . . . new in nourishment values.

It's called Quaker Crackels. It took Quaker Oats scientists 17 years of research to perfect this wonderful cereal. It cost close to $1,000,000.

How Crackels is made. What it is

For Quaker Crackels isn't just a single cereal. It's a blend of all that's best in three great American grains. It contains the vital energy of wheat. The rich nourishment of corn. The splendid proteins of oatmeal. Plus a restful new blended flavor you never tasted before in any cereal.

Best of all, Crackels has a unique, fresh-from-the-oven crispness no other cereal possesses. It stays crisp in your cereal dish, in spite of milk and cream. The last spoonful as freshly crisp as the first. Crackels is America's crispest cereal because wheat, oats and corn have been blended and crisped together in just the right scientific proportions.

Buy Crackels today for breakfast tomorrow. Surprise your family with something deliciously different for breakfast. All grocers have Crackels.

Judge Levine was compelled to pronounce the life sentence under the Baumes laws.

Henpecked Husbands' Union in Liverpool Has Hard Time Getting Good Attendance

LONDON—Although the Liverpool magistrates granted the Liverpool "Henpecked Husbands' Union" an extension of drink hours until 11 p. m. for their inaugural meeting, the meeting proved to be a "flop."

Only 40 of the 400 members made an appearance, the wives of more than 200 members forbidding their erring swains to attend.

Nevertheless, William McElroy, the chairman, opened the meeting with a firm and determined air.

"You must elect me president," he said. "If you do not I dare not go home. My wife said, 'If you are going to be in this silly society you must either get yourself made head man or you need not come home.'"

The henpecked "brothers" immediately elected McElroy president among cheers and to the singing of the union's anthem, "We'll show the women what we can do."

The meeting then discussed ways and means to conciliate wives who object to their husbands' membership of the union, and it was proposed to give the militant wives outings next summer.

To become a member of the Henpecked Husbands' Union, husbands must prove they are henpecked. That is the union's one and only rigid rule.

"FRIENDS WERE AMAZED; KONJOLA WORKED WONDERS"

Lady Received Surprise of Her Life When She Put New Medicine To Test

MRS. D. W. WRIGHT

"What years of suffering and what expense I could have escaped had I known of Konjola long ago," said Mrs. D. W. Wright, 820 South Lasalle St. Columbus. "After every meal I suffered terribly from gas bloating which seemed to affect my heart. My liver was sluggish; my blood pressure high, and I had frequent dizzy spells and awful headaches. Constipation and nervousness contributed to my miseries.

"After many other medicines had failed to do any good, this new Konjola saved the day. Within a week the improvement in my condition was marked, and in four weeks I was feeling better in every way than I had for years. I have a fine appetite; my bowels are regular, and I can eat anything. My friends remark how well I look and I never fail to tell them that I owe my health to Konjola."

Konjola is sold in Marion at Stamp & Sams Pharmacy, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

DANDRUFF
Soon Destroys the Hair

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to hide or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.—Adv.
